CLARK MAY ACCUSE ANOTHER MAN

President Working On Relief Plan For Unemployed

NOT TO CALL CONGRESS IN EXTRA MEET

Hoover Hopes to Arrive at Solution of Problem Before Solons Gather

RELIEF IS ASSURED

Local Communities to Go Limit Before Government Will Take Hand

(Copyright, 1931, by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(UP)—Federal co-operation to feed the hungry next winter will be undertaken by President Hoover on a scale to be determined after completion of a survey now being made, according to a high administration source today.

President Hoover is represented as abhorring the thought of large numbers on the border line of starvation while the country is overflowing with more foodstuffs than can be consumed. A search is on for some plan whereby this food surplus can be turned into needy channels, it is stated.

Two conditions are imposed by the president, it is understood. One is that local communities must exhaust their own resources before outside aid is extended. A canvass of this situation is being made. Secondly, relief must not take the form of a "dole," a point which is strongly emphasized by officials.

Just what is a dole and what it does not depend partially upon the point of view. For the moment, the phrase is used to damn any plan which is not favored. The administration is ready to draw on 1,000,000 army blankets and 200,000 coats available in the war surplus for emergency relief.

This is not considered a dole. Proposals are being made from private sources to utilize the farm board's wheat surplus in some form of food relief and to finance local relief agencies through long term federal credits. These suggestions have thus far been held to involve the "dole" in some form.

Officials promise that the necessary relief will be provided, preferably without any vital legislation.

HONDURAN AVIATOR IS RESCUED AT SEA

S. S. BIBOCO, Aug. 12.—(UP)—(Via radio)—Forced down at sea on an attempted non-stop flight from New York to Honduras, Captain Lisandro Garay perched in the tail of his plane for 35 hours until picked up 16 miles off the Carolina coast by the freighter Biboco. Garay had no food or water and was exposed to rough seas and strong winds. He was too exhausted to relate his experiences. He had a severe cut on his right cheek.

The Honduran flier took off from Floyd Bennett field, New York, Sunday afternoon. He told airport officials at that time he was merely going to make a test flight.

Sunday midnight he was forced down on the water. The Biboco found the plane at 11 a. m. yesterday. Its nose was submerged. Garay had climbed back into the tail, which was sticking up in the air.

World Press Conference Opens Today

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12.—(UP)—A new definition of news, broader in scope, must be observed today by modern newspapers, George Parker, editor-in-chief of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, told the world press conference.

Parker said the old definition illustrated by the statement that "When a man bites a dog, that's news" is not sufficient for the modern newspapers.

They must report all phases of the biting and also avoid undue stress on abnormal conditions, he contended. Renowned court actions and revolutionary movements in South America should not be stressed, Parker said.

The delegates were received by President Pascual Ortiz Rubio.

MRS. KENNEDY WILL REMARRY 'WHAT-A-MAN'

Returns from Las Vegas to Los Angeles After Visiting Hudson

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—(UP)—"My boy and I will be married again real soon."

Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy made this announcement as she skipped jauntily from a train just in from Las Vegas, Nev., her arms full of "Love Story" magazines.

"Ma" had spent the week-end with her "wonder man," Guy Edward Hudson, now an automobile salesman in southern Nevada's metropolitan.

"I'd wait a thousand years for him, but that won't be necessary," she confided. "I won't have to wait because I have evidence that is going to cause sensational developments and bring my boy back to me in a short time."

Then she displayed a photostatic copy of the application for marriage.

NEW BOOK CREATING HAVOC IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(UP)—The Washington Daily News in a story by its political and social commentator, George Abell, said today that the secret service on orders from President Hoover is investigating the authorship of "Washington Merry-Go-Round," a recent anonymous book in which virtually the entire administration was castigated.

The News said further that members of the Republican National committee will follow up the secret service inquiry by seeking a congressional investigation next winter. Prominent members of the committee were said to believe the book was inspired by Democratic agencies.

Horace Liveright & Company, publishers of the volume, were quoted as saying they would "resist to the last" any attempt to force them to disclose the author's identity.

MISS CRUICKSHANK DEFEATED AT RYE

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(UP)—Sarah Palfrey, of Massachusetts, reached the semi-finals in the Eastern turf court championships at the Westchester Country club today when she defeated her older sister, Miane Palfrey, in straight sets, 6-0, 11-9.

Miss Dorothy Welsel, Sacramento, lost to Mrs. Elsie Goldsack Pittman of England in the quarter-final round match, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Miss Joan Ridley, England, reached the semi-finals by defeating Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Calif., 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Lester Stoffen, Los Angeles, lost to Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3 in a second round match.

Aid Planned In Anaheim For Jobless

Surplus Food in North of County to Be Conserved and Dispensed

FORMATION OF A committee to conserve and distribute foods, now going to waste in agricultural centers of Orange county while many families are facing hunger as a result of the unemployment situation, has been effected in Anaheim, it was revealed today by L. E. Miller, mayor of that city.

A meeting of a group from Placentia, Fullerton and Anaheim will be held in Anaheim today, Miller announced, at which time definite plans for detailed working out of the plan will be made. The main object of the plan is to aid the unemployed.

The plan is a simple one which is conducted on a non-profit basis and will be operated through a central committee to be selected in the near future. The committee will be composed of one man from each of the three cities, it was said. Those who have part time employment or who have some funds will be asked to pay a small amount for the goods, but those who are financially unable to pay for them will be given the accumulated surplus products.

While ranchers of the state are forced to let many products of the soil rot in the fields because they do not permit harvesting, the new central committee plans to organize means of picking up the goods and establishing a storehouse in which to keep them.

The food conservation plan provides for relief in the home where unemployment has caused unhappiness, it was said, and reaches the most pressing problem of relief work today, the feeding of children who are actually hungry, it was pointed out.

The committee to be organized will not have as its members any man who is a member of any civic organization, Miller declared.

While this is the first move of this kind to be made in Orange county, the plan has been worked out successfully in eastern centers of population and is being formulated in Los Angeles by the Midnight Mission. The movement is endorsed by all civic and social welfare agencies of Los Angeles county and it is believed that a material betterment of the conditions can be established by the successful operation of the plan.

BOY APPARENTLY DEAD IS REVIVED AFTER OPERATION

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—(UP)—Apparently dead after he had choked on a bean which lodged in his throat, little Edward Venegas, 5, was almost miraculously brought back to life when police surgeons cut a hole in his windpipe and revived him by artificial respiration.

The lad's brother ran into the house last night crying: "Eddie swallowed a bean and is all blue!"

The child was nearly unconscious and suffocating when the father rushed out. A police ambulance covered the 30 blocks to the lad's home in

FOGS HOLD UP STRIKERS WILL LEAVE BOULDER

NOME, ALASKA CITY FOR CAMP

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 12.—(UP)—Nome was all excitement today over its two world famous visitors—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh—who flew from Point Barrow to Safety Bay, east of here, in their trim yellow and black low-winged monoplane yesterday and then were brought here last night by automobile.

The Lindberghs passed over Nome when they arrived from Point Barrow, but after skimming close to the surface of the Nome river, reconnoitered a few minutes and then sped on to a lagoon on Safety bay, where they put their plane down in a graceful landing at 10:39 a. m. (1:39 P. M., P. S. T.).

All Nome cheered lustily as the Lindbergh monoplane passed over the city.

Whites and natives were amazed when they saw Lindbergh fly over the Nome river only to find him missing when they rushed to where they believed he had made a landing with his pontoon-equipped plane.

Only a startled seven-year-old half breed girl saw the plane skim

President Attacks To End Revolt

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 12.—(UP)—Fighting broke out early today in the suburbs of the capital as President Gerardo Machado marshaled loyal forces in an effort to suppress the revolt.

A small detachment of rebels, heavily armed, attacked the bridge guard at the suburb of Luyano. Firing began at 2 a. m.

The surprise attack forced the guard to retreat. Reinforcements from nearby patrols were rushed to the bridge. In the face of their counter attack the rebels fled. Casualties were undetermined.

Havana remained tranquil throughout the night, but reports of the clash at Luyano and renewed fighting between rebel bands and government troops spread uneasiness in the capital.

Rebel forces suffered a severe loss last night when Captain Rodolfo Chipi and a platoon surrounded headquarters of General Francisco Peraza, one of seven leading revolutionary generals, and after an hour's fighting killed General Peraza, Captain Mendez, aide to the general; a student named Jose Hidalgo and four others. Eleven prisoners and large quantities of ammunition were captured.

HOLD BROTHERS IN CONNECTION WITH MURDERS

Killing of Four Youths in Michigan Causes Feeling to Run High

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 12.—(UP)—Two brothers have been spirited out of county jail for further questioning intended to link them with accumulating evidence that two boys and two girls, petters in their teens, were murdered yesterday before their bodies were charred by the fire which destroyed their automobile.

The brothers, Lawrence and Paul Keen, 38 and 39 respectively, were

TO THE PUBLIC:

Bootleggers and those who believe them, are engaged in the game of slander just now in Santa Ana. They state that the writer hired a "snopper" to get evidence of liquor violations and paid such person for getting such evidence" some $150, more or less.

I desire to state that I never employed any woman, or man, to get evidence to prosecute anyone in this city or county. No one employed by me ever got evidence for any prosecution, except years ago, when, as an attorney prosecuting cases.

I desire to say further that I had nothing more to do with getting the evidence, or planning to get it, than had the bootleggers themselves. I heard that federal officers were rounding up liquor sellers and was told the day of the arrests that they were to be made that day. I never even attempted to verify the statements.

I know enough to appreciate the fact that criminals do not violate laws in the presence of officers and that secret service is necessary to get the evidence of the crooks who cheat in the game of life and exploit the weaknesses of men for gain. And when officers use detectives for such service in a legitimate way I am with them 100 per cent. As far as I have been able to learn this is exactly what was done by the officers in these cases.

I am glad to know that the officers are doing their duty, and frankly, the suggestion of charging me, or the Register, with doing the work the officers have been doing, is an implied compliment. But we are not in that work.

I congratulate the federal officers on the work that has been done, and I congratulate Chief Howard and wish to assure him that regardless of attempted slander upon me, or of any misrepresentations, he can count on me to the end. I am not worried by such statements. Men who are fighting against law violators must expect to be lied about, for the violators of course do not consider lies and slander any more serious than law violation. It is difficult enough for the officers to do their duty. The person who adds to this difficulty in law enforcement work aids the law violator to that extent.

NO TRACE IS FOUND OF LOST U. S. FLIER

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 12.—(UP)—The fate of Parker D. Cramer, American flier, remained a mystery today, locked in the storm-swept fastnesses of the treacherous north Atlantic.

No trace of the aviator or his companion, Oliver Paquette, Canadian radio operator, on their trans-Atlantic flight had been found since their brief radio messages last Sunday, reporting themselves off Stavanger, on the coast of Norway.

Bad weather held up an airplane rescue flight planned by Captain Riser-Larsen, widely known flier, as well as other Norwegian and Danish search parties. Ships on the route Cramer was believed to have taken from the Shetland islands toward Copenhagen, his goal, reported sharp lookouts for the plane were fruitless.

PANGBORN, HERNDON CENTER OF BATTLE

TOKYO, Aug. 12.—(UP)—The case of Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., American aviators accused of having taken pictures of Japanese fortifications while flying to Tokyo from Russia, threatened to become a political issue today.

Representations were said to have been made to the public prosecutor asking that lenient treatment be accorded the fliers in behalf of amicable international relations.

Simultaneously, the leader of the reactionary organization, Aikoku Seisanto, visited the official and demanded drastic punishment, threatening nation-wide protests otherwise.

The procurator's examination of Pangborn and Herndon continued throughout the day.

Unidentified Person Seen to Have Come Out of Crawford's Building

STATE NEARS CLOSE

Two Patrolmen on Stand Today Testify They Did Not Hear Shots Fired

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—(UP)—David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, on trial here on a charge that he murdered Herbert Spencer, newspaperman, may claim as his defense that a fourth man shot Spencer and Charles Crawford, boss politician, Clark's attorneys admitted today.

The admission was made after attorneys read the statement of Joseph W. Lubak, structural worker, who came forward first today to state that he saw a man, not yet identified, emerge from Crawford's office just after Crawford and Spencer were mortally wounded May 20.

The identification of this man did not tally with that of either the defendant nor Spencer, both of whom have been placed by witnesses as having left the office just after the shooting.

Spencer got only as far as the front of the office building before he collapsed and died of an abdominal wound.

"Lubak's statement fits into the known facts which he will reveal and which he will place before the jury in the murder trial," Defense Attorney Leonard Wilson said.

"Lubak said this stranger en-

KIDNAPED GAMBLER IS GIVEN RELEASE

GARY, Ind., Aug. 12.—(UP)—William C. Flanagan, middle-aged gambler who was kidnapped last Friday as he took his dog for a walk, was freed unharmed early today on the outskirts of Gary.

Flanagan, who was reported by police to have ended cut throat competition among the steel city's gamblers by organizing a syndicate, was unharmed and tired when released but said he was "feeling O. K."

He swore that no ransom was paid for his release but his attorney, J. Glenn Harris, who had been negotiating with the kidnappers, said: "We haven't paid out a dime yet."

His attorneys advised him not to pay any more until the suits, begun in New York, were disposed of the brief explained.

VON STERNBERG NOT IN CONTEMPT, SAYS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—(UP)—Josef von Sternberg was not in contempt of court when he refused to pay his divorced wife alimony, the director contended in defense briefs on file today in superior court.

Von Sternberg repeated what he testified to last week in court—where it was disclosed that his former wife had begun a $600,000 suit for alienation and libel against Marlene Dietrich—that he had held up alimony payments because his wife, in "harassing" him through the Dietrich suits was violating a condition of the alimony settlement.

ITALIAN OFFICE IN PITTSBURGH FIRED

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12.—(UP)—Bombing of the Royal Italian consulate here early today was believed by detectives to be the first blow in an anti-fascist campaign here.

The explosive apparently had been placed under the porch of the three story brick building housing the consulate offices. The porch was wrecked. The first floor was damaged badly and nearby buildings shaken. No one was injured. Damage was estimated at $300.

arrested in their speakeasy hut about two miles from the charred automobile. They were hustled into Washenaw county jail, questioned for hours, then spirited to a state police post because of crowds that milled about the jail.

Police and science meanwhile continued to pile up evidence. The two young couples were slain in a desperate battle that followed an attempted assault on the girls—evidence police believed the torch car was intended to destroy.

A .38 caliber bullet and three bullet wounds were found in the body of Harry Lore, 16, of Ypsilanti.

There was an apparent bullet wound above the thyroid gland of one girl, whether in the body of Lore's cousin, Vivian Gold, 17, of Cleveland, or Anna Harris, 17, also of Cleveland, could not be determined because of the condition of the bodies.

Thomas Wheatley, 16, had received a fractured skull in the lover's lane battle with unknown assailants.

In the portable hut occupied by the two brothers, both of whom were reported intoxicated when arrested, a posse led by Frank Walker of the state police found these items:

A box of .38 caliber bullets.
Box of shotgun shells.
Blood stained apparel.
Two rifles, not of the same caliber as the bullets found.
A club believed stained by blood, found on a second visit to the hut, but not seen on the first visit.

FORMER L. A. FIRM OPENS AT ANAHEIM

The officers of the Schofield Engineering company, formerly located in Los Angeles, will be moved to Anaheim, it was announced today by George Reid, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce. The offices in Los Angeles were closed yesterday in preparation for the move.

The company is planning to erect a $20,000 building that will house a plant to manufacture automobile parts in Anaheim. The concern specializes in a high compression head for automobiles, but will make many other types of automotive equipment.

About 50 men will be employed in the factory when it is completed, it was announced.

Revolutionists were reported to have killed 29 soldiers and to have captured 25 in a fight in Santa Clara City Monday night.

NOT TO CALL CONGRESS IN EXTRA MEET

tion. But the program is not yet formulated, they said.

Mr. Hoover contemplates no extra session of congress and could be induced to change his mind only should some emergency seriously alter the outlook. It is stated. He prefers to work out a relief plan administratively, with some sort of national relief association heading up the activity and financing it to the extent needed.

One chief concern of the administration is to head off numerous extensive relief plans which will be agitated in the coming congress. With senators and congressmen facing another election campaign, pressed by constituents in hard circumstances, and with both houses evenly divided politically, the temptation in congress to be big hearted with treasury funds will be great. Administration officials fear.

Already the vanguard of the relief army is heard. President Edward A. O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation has just announced reopening of the fight for an equalization fee to relieve agriculture.

Senator John J. Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, has written President Hoover urging an extra session in September, saying the necessity was never greater and that "oncoming winter presents a dark picture with its promised hunger, poverty and distress widespread."

Senator Gerald Nye, Republican, North Dakota, has come back from the prairies suggesting a "two or three year period of price fixing" on farm products and a moratorium on farm mortgage loans. Representative Wright Patman, Democrat, Texas, has appealed to Mr. Hoover to fix prices on oil, cotton wheat and corn.

WASHINGTON.—Work on the navy's rigid airship, the ZRS-4, now being constructed in Akron, is expected to be completed in time for the initial trial flight during the last half of August. Trial flights will probably consist of five or six takeoffs and descents and a duration flight of at least 48 hours. These flights will give officials an opportunity to check fuel consumption, paters of the ship and speed.

Apprehend Two On Theft Charge

Apprehended at Ball and Stanton road at 12:30 a. m. today near a county owned tractor, Leonard F. Brown, Long Beach, and Charles Morean, Anaheim, were in the county jail today while machinery was under way grinding out a complaint which will charge them with petty theft. Fruit Patrol Officers S. L. Snodgrass and W. F. Duncan arrested the pair near the tractor and recovered from them a supply of pliers, wrenches, oil cans, cold chisels and punches identified as belonging to the county. Snodgrass and Duncan had been watching the small car driven by the pair for a number of days before making their catch early today.

The car had four new tires on it, of three different brands. The officers secured the serial numbers of the tires and are investigating to find out where they came from.

HOLLY COMPANY PLANT TO OPEN THIS EVENING

Preliminary operations will start tonight and by tomorrow morning the Holly Sugar company plant south of Santa Ana will be embarked at full speed on the 1931 campaign, which is expected to place in the hands of beet growers $500,000, after $5,000 tons of beets have been sliced.

R. M. Daniels, superintendent, said today that the first beets would be brought into the plant tonight. Approximately 300 workers will be employed and will receive about $150,000 in wages for the campaign, which will last about three months, with 24-hour shifts.

The $5,000 tons of beets for this year's campaign represent about twice the amount handled last year and include approximately 50,000 tons which will be shipped from the delta region around Stockton.

Under contracts in operation this year, the growers will receive about $10 a ton, the same as last year, although the price of sugar is lower. The sugar percentage this year will be good, Daniels said, explaining that climatic conditions during the growing season were favorable.

The De Witt Clinton train, the replica of which has been inspected by hundreds of thousands of travelers in the grand concourse of the Grand Central station, New York city, made its first run on August 12, 1931.

JURY DECLARES PAYNE GUILTY ON 2ND CHARGE

Chalk up another one against Miles M. Payne. Late yesterday a jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court deliberated 10 minutes and found him guilty of grand theft. The jury in the first grand theft case against him which was tried a short time ago, tiled along for 15 minutes before declaring him guilty.

Payne will be sentenced next Saturday morning, the law prescribing a term at state prison of one to 10 years. Inasmuch as he now has two convictions for grand theft, possibility of a Folsom sentence is a subject for speculation.

He is alleged to have taken $3500 from Mario and Caroline Knuth in a deal involving a mortgage on their Laguna Beach property.

After the prosecution completed its case and rested yesterday, the defense also rested without presenting any testimony, Payne electing not to take the stand in his own defense. Assistant District Attorney S. B. Kaufman and Deputy District Attorney Leo Ellis appeared for the prosecution and O. A. Jacobs, Santa Ana attorney, represented Payne.

The young man is not through with the courts here yet, however, for last Saturday a warrant was served on him on a check charge, on which he is awaiting his preliminary examination.

On the jury in the case against him yesterday were Mrs. Elizabeth Singleton, Carl W. Martin, Arthur Clapp, Leo C. Burke, F. E. Poor, Mrs. Jennie E. Connor, Minnie M. Breemer, J. E. Bown, Matilda B. Bunyard, Mrs. David Toms and T. R. Kennedy.

riage license by Hudson and Mrs. Margaret Newton-Hudson, the woman who said she was the legal wife of Hudson when he married Mrs. Kennedy, and whose disclosure of that allegation caused "Ma" to annul her marriage to Hudson.

Mrs. Newton-Hudson claimed her first husband was dead at the time the application was issued November 22, 1922, the copy shows. "Yet after her marriage to my man, Mrs. Newton-Hudson's first husband, Colonel Harry Newton, appeared one day at their home and then she said she had gotten a divorce from him in Panama," Mrs. Kennedy explained.

Mrs. Kennedy's attorneys were trying to locate Colonel Newton today. He was reported recently residing in Portland, Ore.

tered a maroon automobile, which had a light colored top. That fits exactly with information that we have."

Attorney Meyer Martin, to whom Lubak first told his story, appeared in court this morning and attempted to see Judge Stanley Murray to tell him of Lubak's statement.

The jurist declined to see the attorney but advised him to have Lubak instructed to confer with both the prosecution and defense. "Lubak told Attorney Martin that he did not come forward with his information earlier because he, himself, was involved in considerable trouble with his own wife and that he didn't want to get "mixed up in anything else."

The first witness today was Mrs. Ethel Hamlin, Huntington Park who told the court she wished to correct certain parts of her testimony, given earlier in the trial. She said that she had not intended, as her testimony indicated, to say that Al Roehlen, newspaperman, was the person who told her to "move along" when she was standing in front of Crawford's office the day of the shooting. Also she assured the court it was not Roehlen who threatened her later.

Two police officers, Walter J. Tasse and W. W. Christopher, followed Mrs. Hamlin to the witness stand.

They testified that at the time of the shootings they were patrolling along the street near Crawford's office, probably no more than 200 feet away.

They were attempting to pick up a radio message from headquarters so they drove extremely slow from the Catholic church next to Crawford's office right to the front of the office. Both testified they neither saw nor heard anything unusual.

over the water of the lagoon. She darted away in near terror and awaited the arrival of the crowd from Nome.

Grant Jackson, president of the Nome Chamber of Commerce, went to Safety Bay and brought the Lindberghs here in his automobile. The hop from Point Barrow to Nome was the last the Lindberghs will make over American territory on their "vacation" jaunt to Japan. They will fly from here to Karaginsk, Siberia.

"This town as all of the rest of the towns where the Lindberghs have made short stops during their flight, will be wide open to the famous young couple during their stay."

It was believed they would leave either Wednesday or Thursday on their next hop—a 1067-mile flight to Karaginsk. They will cross the Bering Sea and then follow the coastline of Siberia and Kamatchka Peninsula to Japan. Additional stops at Petropavlovsk and Nemuro are planned before the Lindberghs reach Tokyo.

Weather conditions will determine the time of their takeoff from Nome on the dangerous hop over Bering sea.

"This is my Estate"

Thousands of people—many with modest incomes—have founded substantial estates upon LIFE INSURANCE. Policies now in force in California exceed five billion dollars.

Seasoned in financial judgment, a life insurance company chooses its bank with as much care as its investments.

One of the world's largest companies transacts business through sixty different Bank of America branches.

And more than twenty-five other life insurance concerns likewise accumulate and distribute their funds through this Bank's statewide system.

Thus millions that would otherwise remain in transit are made available for increased investments in sound first mortgages and bonds.

These investments of life insurance funds—so helpful to the development of California—benefit property owners, business concerns and wage-earners throughout the state.

Bank of America does not sell life insurance, but considers it one of the most important investments. It is a major asset of many estates administered by our Trust Department. . . . Have you investigated the advantages of a Life Insurance Trust? Ask any Bank of America officer in your community.

7 of the 10 largest life insurance companies operating in California are depositors in Bank of America

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

The most convincing intimations of immortality are found in the lives of people who face death for themselves or sorrow in the loss of others with courage and confidence and calmness, evidencing a moral power within, which belongs only to those who are completely persuaded that life goes on from strength to strength.

There is something superb in the faith and gallantry of such souls which demonstrates that they are truly living a life which is immortal.

That strength and fortitude and peace will be yours as you put your trust more and more in Him, who Himself triumphed over the grave and promised that those who believe in Him will live joyously on just as he does.

ANAHEIM AUDIT SHOWS PROFITS OF UTILITIES

A general financial statement on the condition of the city of Anaheim was submitted in the form of an annual audit to the Anaheim city council last night by City Manager John Price. The statement revealed that the total assets of the city amounted to $1,974,956.29, while the total liabilities of the city amounted to $791,152.47 for the fiscal year during April 30, 1931. Net assets of the city, according to the audit, amount to $1,183,803.82.

Total assets included $162,701.40 in the general fund, $10,156.72 in the library fund, $29,943.20 in the bond fund, $1,305.24 in the acquisition fund and $500 in the drinking fountain fund. Figures showed that the capital accounts, which includes the valuation of permanent property, buildings and equipment amounts to $1,690,349.75.

Total liabilities amounted to $791,152.47 at the close of the fiscal year. Included in this division was a fund amounting to $735,368.71 for general bonds and acquisition—ing bonds. The balance is included in items for accounts payable for interest and bond retirement.

A statement of appropriations and expenditures as shown in the audit revealed that while the budget for the year called for an estimated expenditure of $405,684.41, the actual amount expended was $390,467.94. Price pointed out that the city had kept well within the budget for the year. Estimated revenues for the city amounted to $470,697.55 but the actual amount obtained was $468,201.53.

Light Plant Profits

The city received a total of $182,311.19 from the municipal light and power system while the total expenses amounted to $114,978.15, according to the audit. Under the expense item there was an operating expense of $95,568.93 and a capital outlay of $15,917.06. The capital outlay was used in putting in new power lines and in general repairing.

It was pointed out that the revenues derived from the sale of light and power does not include any money from any source for the operation of the city street lighting system, for overhead or for current used in pumping city water. These items, therefore, do not occur in the audit as they are given to the city for use of the public. The public utilities departments of the city operate out of the general fund, and the operating surplus, which amounted to $67,313.04 in the past year, is used to provide expenses for the operation of the general city government.

Water Department

The same set-up was used in the water department as in the case of the light and power divisions. Water for city use is furnished gratis and no charge is made for electricity to pump the water. Revenue from all sources of the water department amounted to $65,976.43 while the total expenses amounted to $10,436.77. A total operating profit of $26,576.01 was turned over to the general fund.

Winans and Henry were the accountants who compiled the audit, which was accepted and placed on file in regular order at the council meeting last night.

Illinois Banker At San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 12.—Frank Gates Allen, long a prominent figure in the financial, manufacturing and political world of the state of Illinois and the city of Moline, is spending the summer in San Clemente with Mrs. Allen.

Allen is one of America's self-made men. In 1881 he was graduated from Michigan. After two weeks as a newspaper editor without pay, he became an employee of the Moline Plow company at $40 a month. When that company was sold in later years, he was its president. Today, Allen is chairman of the board of directors of the Moline State Trust and Savings bank and is a financial and political power in the middle west.

Allen's daughter, Mrs. Otta Selfert, is a summer resident of San Clemente, the Selferts having a home here.

Smith, left, wealthy manufacturer and one-time candidate for governor of Iowa, was found alive, his hands and feet tied together with wire, in a ditch near Garner, Ia., and now faces prosecution on charges of attempting to defraud an insurance company of $50,000. Smith, who declared he had been kidnapped and held prisoner, is shown being fingerprinted by Sheriff Peck Hanson of Garner.

MAKE FINAL REVISIONS ON WAGE SCALES

A definite wage scale that is regarded as the prevailing wage scale in Orange county was adopted by the prevailing wage committee when they met last night in the Builders' Exchange building. The scale adopted was practically the same as was recommended at the first meeting held last week.

Under the new recommended scale, brick masons will receive $11 a day; carpenters, all classes, $8 a day; cabinet makers, $8 a day; cement finishers, $8 a day; electricians, $8 a day; floor layers, a new division in the recommendation, $7 a day; floor finishers, $9 a day; hod carriers, $8 a day; common laborers, 55 cents an hour; lathers, $9 a day; painters, $8 a day; plasterers, $10 a day; plumbers and steam fitters, $9 a day; plumbers' helpers, $5 a day; roofers, $8 a day; roofers' helpers, $7 a day; kettle men, $6 a day; sheet metal workers, $8 a day; tile setters, $10 a day, and tile setters' helpers, $5 a day.

Changes made are in the matter of common labor, where the recommended wage was set at $4.40 a day. At the meeting last night, it was decided that labor should be paid by the hour. Painters wages were $7 and were raised to $8; plumbers and steam fitters were $8 and were raised to $9; sheet metal workers were $9 a day and were lowered to $8, according to reports. The wages as recommended are in accordance with union scale. Each type of labor was voted on separately.

It was pointed out that the prevailing wage as recommended applies only to construction work on public works. A 40-hour week was recommended by the group. It was also recommended that the proposed scale be put into effect for a six months' period and that the scale be drafted and sent to all governing bodies and that it be written into all specifications in bids for construction work on public buildings or other construction work. A vote of thanks was extended to the Santa Ana board of education for their interest in the matter.

Walter F. Sorenson was elected permanent chairman of the newly organized committee and Frederic Sanford was made permanent secretary.

Labor leaders and some contractors form the nucleus of the committee. The general theme of the meeting was that the working man should be paid a living wage in justice to himself and as a means of bettering conditions throughout the country.

Beach Business Man Marries L. A. Girl August 20

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 12.—Miss Ruth Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Shaw, 4714 Seventh avenue, Los Angeles, and Jack Robertson, proprietor of Jack Robertson's Men's and Boys' shop, will be married August 20 at the home of Miss Shaw in Los Angeles.

Following a honeymoon spent in the bay district, the young couple will make their home at a new cottage now being built for the groom in the 800 block on Crest avenue.

The wedding is to be a quiet home affair. The mother of the groom will attend from this city. Robertson has been in business here for the past 12 years.

LAGUNA COAST HIGHWAY TO BE IMPROVED SOON

That the state highway department contemplates improving the highway from Corona Del Mar to Myrtle street, Laguna Beach, grading full width, with paving 40 feet wide within the city limits, was revealed yesterday in a letter to the board of supervisors from County Highway Superintendent Nat Neff.

The estimated cost of the work is $105,185.35 for the stretch inside the Laguna Beach city limits. The total cost of the project is estimated at $550,000.

The supervisors voted to pay for one fourth of the cost of the project in the beach city, which would be $26,296.34 on the basis of the present estimate. Neff's letter said that with low prices now being made by contractors, it was possible that the county's share would come within the $25,000 limit set up in the budget. The money would come from the county's share of the gasoline tax.

A letter also received from C. H. Purcell, state highway engineer, asking to be informed of the board's action on two petitions for abandonment of strips of land over the Pacific Electric tracks at Sunset Beach. The board yesterday denied the petitions after protests had been made by Sunset Beach residents. Purcell's letter said the state has an order of the railroad commission for constructing a pedestrian subway at that locality, which points out that the work cannot be started until the board has passed an order to abandon or effectively close the crossings at grades.

A letter from the American Legion drum corps here requesting the annual appropriation for participation in the state Legion convention, and pointing out that the drum corps' activity would bring publicity to Santa Ana, was read to the board by County Clerk J. M. Backs, but the supervisors were unable to grant the request because of the fact that no funds are available, it was pointed out. The letter explained that a drum corps also had been organized by the Anaheim Legion post and that the two groups were willing to divide the appropriation between them equitably if it was granted.

PACHO IS SURPRISE VICTOR OVER TOO

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—(UP).—Bobby Pachó, a Yuma, Ariz., youngster with title ambitions had too much in his gloves for Tod Morgan, Seattle veteran, and won a 10-round decision here last night.

With the decision went the California lightweight title, for Morgan was three pounds over the limit when he weighed in and forfeited the crown with $290. Pachó won six of the ten rounds and Morgan the rest. Bobby weighed 134 pounds.

Harry Smith, Jamaica Negro from New York, knocked out Harry Goodland in the second round of a 10-round bout.

Henry Belser acted as starter for the derby. Fifteen prizes for the winners were provided by Henry's Cycle shop.

CHECK vs. CASH

IF a check is lost, mislaid or stolen, its payment can be promptly stopped at the bank upon which it has been drawn; whereas if currency goes astray or falls into improper hands there is no such method in this country of "stopping payment."

THIS is one of the most potent arguments in favor of a checking account here and is so obvious we should hesitate to mention it were it not for the fact that the obvious is frequently lost sight of.

ACCUSED WIFE KILLER FACES MURDER TRIAL

Oscar Mitchell, Negro, accused of slaying his wife, Bertha, on July 31, was bound over to superior court and ordered held without bail this morning at his preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison. Deputy District Attorney Leo Ellis appeared for the prosecution and called but four witnesses.

Refuses To Testify

Mitchell appeared in justice court without attorney and declined to testify or offer testimony of witnesses. He said: "I'll tell my story when I get upstairs, judge."

Dr. E. W. Took of the county hospital staff, who performed the autopsy on Mitchell's alleged victim after the slaying, testified as to the cause of death, and Detective Sergeant T. J. Smith, of the Santa Ana police department, who arrested Mitchell and disarmed him, identified the gun and told of finding the body of the Mitchell woman in the rear yard of the Mitchell home at 602 North Daisy street after the shooting. He identified the gun and bullets taken from Mitchell and a discharged cartridge in the house.

Jack Grumantel, who operates a second hand store on East Fourth street, identified the gun as one he sold to Mitchell on July 30. He said that at the time of the purchase, Mitchell told him that he was going north to work on a ranch and needed the gun, an automatic pistol, to hunt small game with.

Julia Sulzer, who was in the house at the time Mitchell is said to have slain his wife, described the shooting and her subsequent flight through the house and the yard of a neighbor. All the time she was telling the story of her flight, Mitchell sat in the prisoner's box and smiled. Several times he laughed outright and it was necessary for Judge Morrison to call for order.

The Sulzer woman testified that she and the slain woman and Mitchell were dividing the furniture and other belongings of the couple on the day of the murder. Suddenly Mitchell straightened up, she said, and accused his wife, saying:

Accused Wife

"You told me you had another man!"

According to the Sulzer woman, his wife replied:

"Yes! What of it?"

Without further words Mitchell is said to have pulled a pistol from his pocket and fired at the woman.

The witness said that she fled into another room and then into the bathroom when she locked the door and climbed through a small window high up in the wall and continued her flight through a neighbor's yard.

She testified that while she was fleeing through the yard she heard another shot fired and that the Mitchell woman screamed.

L. A. SCHOOL MEN HERE TOMORROW

INSURANCE CASE TRIAL UNDER WAY

Superior Judge G. K. Scofield today was hearing testimony in a suit brought by the Chapman Orchards against the Associate Fire and Marine Insurance company, and A. J. Ralph, in which the plaintiff alleges that the insurance company failed to deliver a $10,000 fire policy on its Tulare county packing house, although claiming the premiums for it had been paid. The packing house burned, causing a $32,000 loss, it is asserted.

Richard A. Turner and E. B. Kaufman, with Allen T. Lynch as associate, appeared for the plaintiff. H. A. Thornton appeared for the insurance company and Ralph was represented by Preston Turner.

JOHN BROWN GIVES FINAL SERMONS HERE

The John Brown revival campaign which has been going on in Santa Ana for over four weeks was officially closed this morning following the farewell sermon delivered by the evangelist at his tabernacle on South Broadway.

The preacher chose as his text the 14th chapter of John beginning with the 3rd verse. Expounding on the topic "Let not your heart be troubled," he told the morning congregation that everything would move to a glorious culmination if they would "follow the Old Book and Christ's teachings."

Delivering a unique sermon on the subject of "Does God Laugh?" Evangelist John Brown gave the closing evening's service of his revivalistic campaign last night. The preacher plans on leaving with his family for his home at Siloam Springs, Arkansas, within the next week, where he will stay until the opening of his campaign in Orange in September. The "Arkansas Travelers," young men's quartet, which has been traveling with the evangelist during the summer will also return and continue their education at the John Brown schools situated at Siloam Springs.

"Three times in the Word of God are we told that God laughs," said the preacher in beginning his message. "But the Bible does not have a great deal to say about laughter. The word laughter is greatly misunderstood. You may laugh a great deal and have no joy in your heart."

"Christianity is a religion of joy but that does not mean laughter. We are spending millions of dollars to make people laugh and there never was a time in the history of the world that the people were so restless, so unsatisfied and so unhappy."

"I think God has a sense of humor," said the preacher. "One of the finest bits of humor in the world is to be found in the story of the prodigal son. God has an awful contempt and derision concerning some of our earthly conditions."

"If you try to testify for Christ the multitudes try to cast you out but when they cash you out the Lord Jesus will start hunting you out." Some day you will be laughed and sneered and jeered at for turning your back on Christ. If you laugh at God you will receive in like," asserted Brown. "Some day you will cry and find your cry too late."

Scores of the congregation made their decisions on the closing evening's service and filed down the sawdust paths to shake Brown's hand and go into the inquiry room for a few minutes of prayer.

PASADENA PASTOR WILL SPEAK HERE

The Rev. Mr. Robinson was reared in the mountains of Tennessee and has written several books and has memorized a third of the Bible. He is also a writer for the religious press.

The guest pastor will speak at the Church of the Nazarene to night and tomorrow night he will make an address before a meeting of the Laymen's association at the John Brown tabernacle on South Broadway.

Pair Injured As Auto Overtakes

Marvin Baker, 37 years old, Dallas, Texas, received a possible hip fracture and his companion, Bert Deason, also of Texas, received painful cuts and bruises when the automobile in which they were traveling from Texas to Los Angeles overturned and was destroyed by fire late yesterday afternoon on the state highway near Irvine.

The two men were rushed to St. Joseph's hospital, where they were given treatment.

According to information received at the California Highway Patrol office the two men were heading for Los Angeles, where Baker was expecting to go to work. For some unknown reason the car went out of control and turned over, bursting into flames. The men were rescued by passing motorists and taken to the hospital.

ARRESTS BRING CONFESSIONS OF BURGLARIES

With the arrest yesterday of two small boys, one 15 years old and the other 14 years old, accused of burglarizing the home of Ivan Williams, 833 North Baker street, six robberies during the past month were cleared up by city police.

The oldest boy when taken into custody confessed to burglarizing the Williams home and implicated his companion. He later confessed to five other burglaries that he said he had committed alone.

His confession included breaking into the homes of M. U. Martin, 115 East Chestnut street on the night of July 9; J. E. Gibson, 816 Lowell street on the night of July 10; C. L. Scott, 1030 North Flower street, the night of July 11; Glen Wiley, 1417 South Parton street the night of July 15 and Miss Stella Swartz, 806 North Oliva street, on the night of July 31.

The boys were taken to the detention home where they will be held pending action against them in juvenile court.

According to the police, only trifling things were taken in all of the robberies. At the Wiley home nothing had been taken and the ransacking of the house had not been reported.

Court Notes

Seeking to have a deed reformed and to quiet title to property in the A. B. Chapman tract, the Evangelical Lutheran St. John's congregation of the Unaltered Augsburg Confession, of Orange, has brought suit against Rudolf and Amilda E. Frick. The Dawson County State bank, of Nebraska, has brought suit against D. H. Moulds and Eva L. Moulds, asking judgment for $2842.50 alleged to be due on a series of promissory notes.

Demanding $490.69 damages for injury to one of its trucks, the Franco-American Bakery has brought suit against George Stodart. The suit is based on an automobile accident at the intersection of Crescenta avenue and Walker street, Cypress, on January 26, in which the Stodart car is alleged to have collided with the bakery truck.

Asking judgment for $1350 and for $500 damages, the Consumers Feed and Fuel company has brought suit against Manuel Azavedo, alleging that he is holding unlawfully dairy cattle belonging to the plaintiff.

"Another one spoke up and said that she too liked the taste of CHESTER-

COUNCIL SEEKS 10-ACRE TRACT FOR CITY PARK

ORANGE, Aug. 12.—An offer for a 10-acre tract owned by the heirs of the H. P. Gardner estate was made yesterday afternoon by the Orange city council, with a view of converting the tract into a city park. The offer was made to H. P. Gardner and to Dian R. Gardner, joint executors of the estate. The amount of the offer was not made public.

If the offer made by the city is accepted, the park will be known as Gardner park, to perpetuate the memory of the pioneer resident of Orange, who passed away in Los Angeles October 27, 1918.

The park would be about 660 feet square, with a small jog on the La Veta avenue side. It would extend from South Glassell street to the P. E. tracks on the west and to Santiago creek to the south. On the north, or La Veta avenue side, it would take in five lots which face that avenue, one of which is at the corner of Glassell street. This strip of lots was sub-divided and seven of the lots comprise residence property.

Location Favorable

The tract is conceded to be an ideal location for a park and many of the trees which are now planted on it could be used in landscaping the ground. While a part of the tract is set to Valencia oranges, many other trees are to be found. One magnolia, which is said to be a half century old, is of unusual beauty. One big dead cedar and several cypress trees furnish further arboreal beauty. Beside these trees are a row of big walnuts, a number of old palms and, on the creek side, pepper trees.

Plans to make this tract a park have been under consideration for some time. Mayor W. E. Clement stated yesterday, and plans are under the direction of the park committee, Clyde A. Watson and Ben Dierker. City Attorney H. L. Dearing presented a resolution to the council, which was adopted and which gave Mr. Dearing authority to make an offer for the park.

A small portion of the park site would be outside of the city limits. This part lies toward the ground used by the Orange County Fumigation company and includes a piece of land somewhat less than three acres.

Member First Council

The determination to call the park "Gardner park" met with the approval of the entire council. Henri P. Gardner, who came to this city in 1873, was one of the members of the first city council here and took an active part in organizing the city government. A number of the trees set out in the plaza were placed there by Mr. Gardner, it was said.

When the late Mr. Gardner set out the tract, Orange was but a country cross roads with one store and a blacksmith shop. He was prominent in developing the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company and was secretary and later superintendent of the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tenor were instrumental in the formation of the first public library in Orange.

HURRY

Pails Empty in 10 min. 3 sec.!

23 workmen eating on the job were "timed" at lunch. No delicate appetites are these. And no "pink teas" are the lunches in these pails. All pails were opened by 12:03. Every pail was closed, empty, by 12:18! The average time for all was 10 min. 3 sec.!

It's the AMERICAN PACE!

But here's a commonsense habit that really helps

We've "timed" scores of people of widely different types and occupations. And most of them—like most of us—are fast eaters.

You're probably no exception. You, yourself, if you live at the well-known American Pace, have undoubtedly felt twinges of "nervous indigestion," stomach distress.

Doctors say these are the price we pay for living the way we do—for fast eating.

Nervous relaxation and a sufficient flow of saliva are necessary to good digestion. Saliva is not only a digestant in itself, but it stimulates the flow of digestive juices in the stomach.

No—we don't claim that Wrigley's will cure chronic indigestion. But we do know that thousands of people have found that Wrigley's after meals is a definite aid to digestion.

Biochemists say they're right! They've demonstrated that Wrigley's helps to relax nervous tension. And, as we all know, it promotes a beneficial flow of saliva. Thus it aids in offsetting the bad effects of fast eating.

Maybe you'll find something in it. A lot of people have. We suggest seriously that Wrigley's is a commonsense habit—and an enjoyable one. After lunch—take your change in Wrigley's.

Tack Thayer had been shot to death in his penthouse. After being questioned by Inspector Connolly, Thayer's wife, Martha, had been permitted to go to the home of Peter Wayne's sister, Carol, Mrs. Steve Wentworth, although Connolly suspected Evan Ross and Martha. The Thayers had not been happy and Martha loved Ross. She phoned Peter when she returned from a night club and found Tack dead. Detective Sergeant Charley Mitchell had questioned Peter roughly at that time but when he appeared at Peter's apartment later he was a different Charley, and Peter's first instinct was to trust, even like that roughneck. He asked Peter to work with him as he did not believe Martha and Ross were guilty. Tack and Peter had been college mates at Yale. Peter had done nothing chemical research for a Western industrial corporation until he stumbled on an alloy, which made a light airplane engine possible and Peter wealthy. He headed at once for the fishpots of Manhattan and was firing of the swift whirl of night life when he met Martha for the first time with Tack at Emma's night club, and fell in love with her.

INSTALLMENT 16

"Now, let's get back to what we know," said Detective Sergeant Mitchell. "The madam's been carryin' on a bit with this Ross, and Thayer didn't like it. He didn't like Ross, and Ross didn't like him. There was a row in the Fantomas Club about 11:30, and Thayer was all for beatin' Ross up, but that smooth guy that runs the joint talked him out of it. Thayer wasn't around, drinkin', after that, till he went home—he was in Emma's the best part of an hour, and got into a fight with Benny because they wouldn't serve him no more drinks.

"Ross and the madam went over to Sanborn's where you seen 'em. An' they had a fight, too—seems like there was trouble in the air last night. He left her flat, with another dame—Jane called Gould—and was gone for about an hour. Then he came back, and they made up, and he took her home. Get that? Ross and she wasn't together for most of an hour—and so far as we know, it was in that hour Thayer was popped off.

"But we don't know that. Doc Johnson's guess is that Thayer was bumped off about three—but if any one tells you they's any such thing as bein' sure of how long a stiff's been dead, within an hour or so, he's lyin'. He might have been alive when the madam went upstairs—he might have been dead an hour, even then. No tellin'. But it's in the cards that Ross killed him while the madam was with another crowd at Sanborn's."

"But—how could Ross or any one else get on the roof without Axel's seeing him?" asked Peter.

"Lots of ways. By climbin' the fire escape from either side—just for one—or the fire escape at the back. That's easy—easier than gettin' in to an apartment on one of the other floors. That part's nothin' to worry about."

"I see," said Peter. "No—it's not of course, I can see that for myself, now."

"Well—you see the case, don't you? It's a strong one. Only—me, I don't believe it's right. Neither do you. That's why I'm here. Connolly's dead set on it that it was Ross and the madam—one or the other, and probably both. He's got a motive—he can make out opportunity. I'll try for a confession. He can set an indictment on what he's got now, and the D. A.'ll go to trial on circumstantial evidence. He might get a conviction—he might not. I wouldn't be surprised either way. But, even if she beat the chair it wouldn't be so good for the madam."

"My God—no!" said Peter. The vision of Martha, crushed, borne down under the weight of a verdict, even though it was of acquittal, that would be, in effect, only the old Scotch "Not Proven," appalled him.

"Yeah, like that," said Mitchell. "That's why you'd like to help find out who done it. Me—I got my own reasons. I'm just an extra pair of legs for Connolly on this case. But if I turn up the right guy and pin it on him—well it wouldn't hurt me any."

"And there's thing I want to know I ain't got a chance of findin' out myself. Some one bumped this Thayer off. You hear me, Wayne—when a guy's killed they's a motive. Some one's afraid of him, or they want to get even with him. That's where those ashes come in—maybe. They don't mean a thing, maybe—then again, maybe they do."

"Connolly, he thinks he's got his motive. He thinks Ross and the madam bumped this Thayer off because they was nuts about each other and couldn't get married while he was around. Applesauce! What was the matter with a divorce?"

"Well—" Peter, once more, hesitated. But it seemed to him that he had to lay his cards down for Charley now. This might—the thought had crossed his mind—be a trap. But he had to take that chance. So he explained why Tack and Martha couldn't arrange a divorce. Charley listened attentively, but his own theory was only confirmed, not upset.

"Yeah?" he said. "That's why I'm here. Because you know things like that, that I couldn't find out if I spent a week tryin'. On that showin' in Connolly's motive is weaker than ever. This Ross ain't got no money, you say—and neither has the madam? How much did Thayer have, of his own—that'd probably go to his widow?"

"I don't know, exactly. Not much, though. Five thousand a year, at a guess. He had his salary, too, but that would stop when he died, of course."

"Yeah? And mamma made up the difference? She's the one has the real sugar, eh? Then what's it get Ross and the madam to bump this Thayer off? Five thousand a year! About enough to keep them in cigarettes! That's one in the eye for Connolly's idea, ain't it? How about insurance? Thayer carry much?"

"I don't know, I doubt it, though. No special reason why he should. They were always broke, and he figured he'd come in for plenty when his mother died, of course. I can find out, I suppose."

"So can I," said Charley, grimly. "I'll attend to that. Now—you go in to play ball with me, fella? I ain't ready to hand you any special job yet. What I want you to do is nose around and see if you can get out anything. Any man—Thayer had with a woman, for instance. Or any fights he'd had. Or if there's any sign that he had anything on anybody. How about it?"

"I'll try," said Peter. "Right now—I don't see any lead. But—you bet I'll string along with you. I—I was feeling pretty low until you came along."

"I know, fella—I know," said Charley. He got up, and held out his hand, and there was a surprising warmth and friendliness in his grip. "You're in a tough spot, but they's a lot of luck left. Who's the madam goin' to have for a lawyer—you know?"

"Arthur Bouton, I think," said Peter.

"Used to be an assistant D. A.—tried the Carter case. I made that pinch. He's O. K. You tell him what I've told you—see? He'll keep it under his hat, all right. Him and me—we can't get together. But he can reach me through you—see? I'll keep in touch with you."

Peter felt better, as he saw Charley's broad back disappearing into the elevator, than he had since his first realization, in the Thayers' living room, that Connolly suspected Martha.

Peter went downtown about one o'clock, having been sent for by Steve Wentworth, and had lunch, high up over the city, with lawyers all about him and Bouton and George Prentice, as well as Steve, at the table.

"Bouton wants to see you," Steve had said. "He can't talk to Martha—I called Jimmy, and he says he couldn't wake her if he tried, and that she couldn't talk sense if he did. Bouton doesn't like the looks of things. Ross has cleared out, by the way."

"Cleared out?" said Peter, incredulously. "Why—that's absurd!"

"Seems to be straight, though," said Steve. "Buy a paper. And don't hold out anything on Bouton—in case you've got any fool ideas in your head. It won't do."

Newspaper men were still waiting when Peter appeared, and this time, he stopped and faced them.

"Look here," he said amiably. "I'm sorry if I wasn't civil before—I was on edge, and I needed a bath and a shave. But there isn't anything I can tell you."

Their questions were like the hail of bullets from a machine gun. Where was Mrs. Thayer? (So Connolly hadn't let that out! Good for him!) Did he know about the rumor of a quarrel in which Mr. Thayer had been involved with Evan Ross and Mrs. Thayer? Was it true that Mr. and Mrs. Thayer had been considering a divorce? Did he know this—and that—and the other thing?

"I'm sorry," said Peter. "The answer's no—every time. As far as I know, I mean, I don't know a thing. Mrs. Thayer found—well, you know what she found. And she started telephoning, and I happened to be the first one of their friends who answered. What? No—I don't know whether she's tried any one else first, or not. I didn't ask her a lot of questions, you know. The police were doing that. And you can guess how much they

PICKARD TELLS PLAN TO AID DISABLED VETS

Urging private employers to co-operate with the government in the veterans employment program to be worked out, Harry S. Pickard, commander of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans, today revealed details of the proposed project to be undertaken.

He declared that questionnaires have been sent out by the Los Angeles office of the Veterans administration to all compensated veterans and urged that all veterans fill them out and return them to Washington, D. C., at once so that a complete record of unemployed veterans in the country can be compiled.

Exactly one week after his election E. Claude Babcock of Washington, D. C., recently elected national commander of the D. A. V., launched a campaign to secure employment for every disabled veteran in the United States. Pickard said after contacting General Frank T. Hines, head of the Veterans administration and later consulting Secretary of Labor Donk, he formulated plans for the huge undertaking. The result was a plan to take a census of disabled veterans now unemployed.

One of the features of the DAV plan is that instead of merely sending the man's name to the director and letting the matter rest, it was unanimously agreed at the conference that periodic reports of each case would be sent to Washington and these reports were to continue until the men had been placed in permanent employment or had been definitely classified as unemployable. In the latter cases the matter will then be referred back to the Veterans' administration for reconsideration of the veterans' compensable status.

BOY SCOUTS WILL HOLD SWIM MEET

A Boy Scout swimming meet will be held with the Anaheim district and the Fullerton, Placentia, Brea and La Habra district competing for honors at the municipal plunge in Anaheim city park next Monday at 7:30 p. m. It was announced today by Christy T. Allen, assistant scout executive. "Tex" Middleton and Vern Cruzen will be in charge of the meet.

District 4, which is comprised of Anaheim troops, has issued a challenge to any district in the county to compete in a swimming meet. It was learned today. The next direct challenge has been issued to district 5, comprised of troops from Newport Beach, Laguna Beach, Costa Mesa, San Clemente and Capistrano. This event will take place a week from next Monday, it was reported.

All manner of diving, races, under water swimming and other events will comprise the program of the meet.

Reunions and Picnics

All former residents of Texas, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama are invited to their annual summer picnic, all day, Saturday, August 15, Blymore Grove park, Los Angeles. Each state will have its own section and the program will include oratory and song.

told me! You can probably get a lot more out of them than I could."

The reporters looked at him, disappointedly. From their point of view Peter was turning out badly, very badly. Reporters cherish a profound dislike—professionally and journalistically, that is—for people who speak pleasantly and keep their tempers under questioning. They know exactly how to handle people who sullenly refuse to speak, or those who explode into abusive language.

"Do you mind telling us where you're going now, Mr. Wayne?" asked one of the crowd.

"Not at all," said Peter. "I'm going downtown to have lunch with my brother-in-law. I hope he's going to take me to the Los Angeles Club. Depends on how generous he's feeling, though. Can I give any of you a lift? I'm taking a taxi."

They declined, but, looking back, he saw another cab following him. Steve laughed when Peter told him he'd been trailed.

"Of course," he said. "That's routine. You'll be shadowed as long as this murder's on the first page. Don't worry. We're meeting Bouton and Prentice upstairs at the club for lunch, and we won't go out together."

SAYS NEGLECT IS LEADING MANY TO HELL

Crowds thronged to the Ford Tabernacle on North Main street last evening to hear the lecture on "A Question God Can't Answer." The evangelist, John Ford, pictured to his hearers the enormity of sin and its terrible consequences.

"Sin will take a fine boy and bury him in a drunkard's grave. It will take a pure, beautiful girl and sell her to a life of shame. It will take your darling mother and place her beneath the cold sod. In Gethsemane and on Calvary a remedy for sin was provided, but only as mankind accepts of it will it be of any avail," said the speaker.

"The question asked by Pilate as Christ stood before him: 'What shall I do with Jesus?' is a question that every one will answer in one of three ways. By accepting, by rejecting, or by neglecting. The Jews rejected Christ, but today thousands of men and women are neglecting Him. The question that God can't answer is found in Heb. 2:3, 'How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation?' More people will go to hell because of the sin of neglect than for almost any other sin. Most folks plan some day to become Christians but are constantly waiting for some more convenient time, which too often, never comes."

"Why not settle it tonight that Christ shall no longer be kept out-side, but let Him in and He will write your name on the Book of Life tonight!" pleaded the evangelist.

The solos rendered by Dr. C. O. Patterson, of Anaheim, and Evangelist Ford, were greatly appreciated.

The subject of this evening's lecture is: "Two Men That Went to Heaven and Came Back: What Did They Inform Us About the Place?"

Says Now Is Time To Expand Sales And Advertising

Advertising and sales efforts should be expanded in the coming months, according to the Brookmire Economic Service, Inc., New York financial organization, which has mapped out those industries where better-than-average conditions prevail. Total income of the country in the next six months is estimated by this service at about 8 percent below the same period a year ago, which is a smaller decline than prevailed recently.

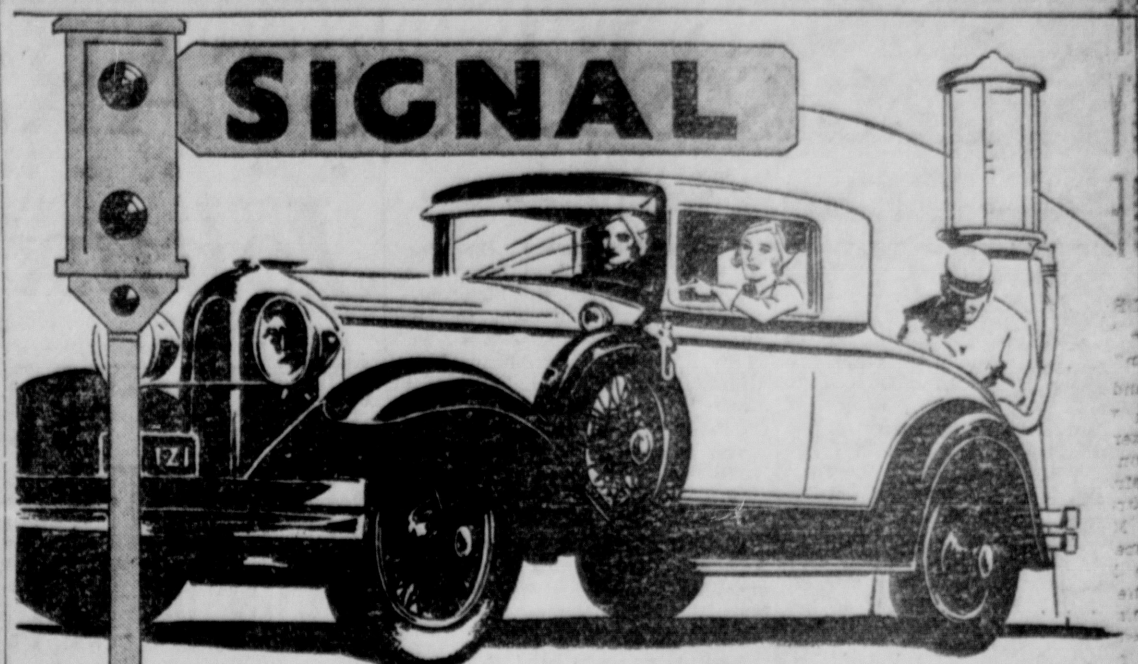

Industries which are enjoying improved conditions are textiles, shoes, tires, clothing and affiliated lines, which Brookmire feel will have sustained activity for the next few months.

"Last fall we felt it necessary to emphasize the unfavorable factors," says a statement, "but now the accumulation of deferred demand and the deflated condition of prices point to recovery in the coming year. Profits will be largest to those who are alert to take advantage of opportunities. Individuals can benefit personally and do their share toward stimulating activity by buying goods at current sales or by taking the homes that are being offered at sacrifice prices. Manufacturers should accumulate raw materials for requirements a long period ahead and can take over the plants of competitors who are in difficulty.

A big part by encouraging legitimate enterprise of financing home building where local conditions justify. Discriminating investment of time and money in the nation's industries during the months that are immediately ahead will yield proportionate rewards."

MCCASLIN WELL IN H. B. FIELD BEING BAILED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 12.—The McCaslin well, which is being bailed from a depth of 8400 feet, giving up baler after baler of arum mud, which seems to be coming from the bottom and running into the perforated casing at the bottom of the well. If the bailing is unsuccessful within the next day or two, McCaslin will hook on to the perforated casing and try to pull it.

If it is possible to pull the casing, the well will be allowed to come in unconfined, if it will. If it does not come in as a gusher, the drill crew will put the bit back in the hole and drill out the mud. This is the procedure recommended by oil operators. If this final effort is unsuccessful, it is believed the well will be given up, but the crew and McCaslin are still confident of being able to bring the well in a producer. The Superior Oil company set the perforated casing Tuesday in its Gillette No. 7 well, across the alley on the McCaslin well. The Superior set a casing with wide slots, but in the McCaslin well casing are small, very much smaller than the slots in the Superior well. Whether or not the Superior will be able to bring in the well is not known.

After putting in the perforated casing, the Superior put in a cement

BEACH C. OF C. IN ATTACK ON 'PEDLER EVIL'

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 12.—The Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce is initiating a campaign here to eliminate the "pedler evil," and at its meeting yesterday at the Balboa Yacht club, decided to ask the city council to pass whatever ordinances it legally can do to put the plan into effect.

Peddlers, going from door to door, and endeavoring to sell merchandise and service of every conceivable kind, have become a nuisance and an imposition both on the householder and the merchants and other business establishments, it was stated by H. L. Sherman, chamber director who brought up the matter.

An ordinance making it a misdemeanor for a pedler to ring a doorbell or otherwise disturb a householder in cases where signs are displayed, was suggested by Stuart H. Lucas, it was suggested that all existing laws and ordinances in this connection be strictly enforced.

The chamber directors instructed Secretary G. C. Macleod, at his suggestion, to write letters of welcome and information to new arrivals. Accompanying these letters will be a list of chamber members, to make each communication a personal letter from the members to the newcomers.

A proposal made by the Canadian Association of Southern California to stage a big picnic and reunion here in the early fall was referred to the advertising committee. It is believed that such an event would attract the attention of former Canadians living here, Canadian tourists and even Canadians planning to visit Southern California to Newport bay and Orange county.

The chamber endorsed a resolution of the California Reunionment association opposing any action to prevent the reunionment passed at the last session of the state legislature taking effect.

Youthful Skipper Prepares for N. Y. Races Next Month

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 12.—Said to be the youngest champion starboat skipper ever to compete in the international races, Billy Lyon, recently turned 16, who won the elimination trials of the Newport Harbor fleet, is preparing to go east to represent the Newport Harbor fleet in the international races at Port Washington, on western Long Island sound, New York, September 11 to 18.

Lyon's "crew," Bart Henderson, is just 17, so that the pair is also probably the youngest that has ever competed in the international star events. Lyon is a son of former State Senator Charles W. Lyon, of Santa Monica, and lives here with his uncle, F. K. Eckley. Eckley, one of the foremost small sail boat enthusiasts in Southern California, who plans to go east with Lyon and Henderson.

Lyon's starboat, the Vega, will be shipped east via the Panama canal this week end.

The fleet of modern steamers plying Lake Champlain and Lake George are now equipped with automobile decks for the carrying of tourists' cars.

Beach Fenced Off From Public Use

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 12.—The section of beach owned by Sherrad Harris near the bath house at Corona Del Mar has been fenced off from public use. The plot lies between the California Institute of Technology observatory and the bath house.

That portion of the beach is popular with swimmers. It is said this is the first strip of beach in the Newport area to be fenced.

The beach all the way between the city limits of Huntington Beach and Corona Del Mar is open to the public. West of Huntington Beach the beach is fenced for six miles, all the way to Sunset Beach and through a large part of Sunset Beach toward Seal Beach.

Kiwanians Hear Ex-Ball Player

ANAHEIM, Aug. 12.—Things that determine whether or not a young man will make a success of professional baseball, were explained by Russ Hall, Los Angeles, veteran ball player, who addressed the members of the Kiwanis club when they held their regular weekly meeting yesterday noon in the Elks clubhouse.

Hall began playing ball in 1892 and is now the secretary-treasurer of the Professional Baseball Players of America, an organization that cares for veteran ball players who are out of the game. More than $50,000 has been expended by the organization in this work. Hall declared in outlining the work of the organization. He was introduced by Chief of Police James S. Bouldin, who is a veteran ball player. George Pace and the members of the Anaheim All-Star night ball team were honored guests at the meeting.

O. E. Steward, Anaheim representative on the Metropolitan Water District board of directors, spoke briefly on the water situation and outlined the costs of the district in bringing water to Anaheim from the Colorado river. Mrs. Orilla Biglow and Melva Roquet furnished the music for the day's program.

SUPERIOR OIL MAY START ON WILDCAT SOON

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 12.—The Standard Oil company has the tubing on the rack for its Irvine well on the shore of the east arm of Newport bay, two miles beyond the city limits. The company is expected to insert the tubing at any time now, a job of a few hours, following which the well should get a production test.

The Superior Oil company is due to start this week on the Irvine lease at Port Orange, just outside the city limits of Newport Beach. It is reported the Superior is negotiating with the Irvine ranch company for a 60-day extension of time for starting the well, offering the ranch company a substantial rental if the extension in starting time is granted.

The Superior took all the company land in Newport Heights, paying a bonus said to have been $10,000. In addition, the Superior is leasing individually owned lots in Newport Heights. The lot owners state they are getting $2 a month rental per lot, the rental to continue until royalty from oil development exceeds the per month lot rental.

The Costa Mesa district and the district along the bluff at the west entrance to Newport Beach are getting a play, as these areas lie between the Huntington Beach field and the Standard wildcat on Newport bay.

The Nuoll company, of which Frank Geisel is president, is getting ready for a third well.

It was pointed out by a Newport Beach realtor yesterday that Newport Heights is restricted territory and that the Superior Oil company cannot drill there until the city rescinds its present ordinance, or an election is held and the restrictions voted off.

Anaheim Store Manager Missing

ANAHEIM, Aug. 12.—Declaring that Robert Sargent, manager of the Anaheim Continental chain grocery store, was missing, H. L. Bradley, district superintendent of the chain stores, filed a report at the Anaheim police station yesterday. Sargent made his home in the Southland hotel.

200-Pound Fish Hooked At Newport

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 12.—The record swordfish of the season here was brought in late yesterday by E. D. Dorris, of Riverside. It weighed 220 pounds and it took Dorris an hour and 50 minutes to get it in the boat, the vampire. The big fish was hooked off shore a few miles south of Balboa.

With Dorris were B. J. Starkweather, sporting goods dealer, and Major H. E. Vaughn, both of Riverside, and Harry Wright, owner of the fishing boat.

This is a good time to catch swordfish, according to a bulletin just issued by J. B. McNally, operator of the Thistle fishing boat line. The total catch here to date is nearly 20.

Shore fishing has also improved here, according to Cliff Von Kennel, Balboa tackle man. Barracuda, bonita and yellowtail are plentiful.

PICKPOCKET GETS BALL FAN'S CASH

ANAHEIM, Aug. 12.—Declaring that his pocket had been picked and his wallet stolen, Roger Daniel, 124 West La Palma street, filed a report at the police station last night. He declared that he had gone to the ball game at the city park and had missed the wallet while watching the game.

According to the report, the wallet contained $9.75 in cash, the bill of sale for his car and his operator's license.

WATER WELLS BEING DRILLED ON RANCH

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 12.—The well drilling crews developing deep water wells on the Irvine ranch are putting down a well between the Eddie Martin Airport and Costa Mesa. There have been several wells drilled along that section of the Irvine ranch.

The drill crews use a derrick and rotary equipment and the outfit resembles an oil well drilling outfit. It is the heaviest equipment ever used in the county for water well drilling. The wells are being put down to a depth of 1500 to 1700 feet. Water found at that depth is suitable for irrigation purposes and domestic use.

It is common belief that water producing from wells below 1000 feet in depth will be too salty for ranch use, but this theory or belief does not hold good in that part of Orange county.

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 12.—In the publication of the names of donors to the state park fund, the names of two of San Clemente's leading citizens were missing due to an oversight. Trafford Hutson, past president of the chamber of commerce, and Dan Mulherson, president of the civic body, contributed to the $200,000 citizens' fund, which with the state's $200,000, was used to purchase the state park site at San Clemente comprised of 100 acres and 6000 feet of beach.

Proposed County Budget Calls For Rate Increase

HEARINGS ON PROTESTS SET FOR AUGUST 20

How the proposed $5,122,505 Orange county budget for the fiscal year 1931-32 is made up is shown in the printed booklet just released for distribution by County Auditor W. T. Lambert. Of the total sum, $5,563,586 must be raised by taxation, the remainder coming from other sources of income which the county has and from unencumbered balances. The total requests last year amounted to $5,956,132.

On increase of 22 cents in the tax rate inside incorporated communities and an increase of 27 cents in the rate outside of incorporated communities will be required to raise the funds, as shown on the budget, Lambert points out. The inside rate last year was $1.45, while it will be $1.67 under the proposed budget. The outside rate last year was $1.85, while indications are that it will be $2.12 this year, although Lambert said today he was working in an effort to get it to a figure of $2.07.

The board of supervisors on August 20 will hold a hearing and entertain protests on the tentative budget. At the time taxpayers may enter protests on proposed expenditures. On or before August 30 it must be adopted in final form.

Actually requested amounts for the various departments and divisions of the county administration total $7,765,018. The difference between this figure and the larger one is practically accounted for by amounts set aside in the unbudgeted reserve and the general reserve, which are $130,103 and $225,247.44, respectively. An additional sum of $2100 for the county library is not included in the budget requests, being an amount due it from other funds, but not included as a request.

NOTED ENGINEER POINTS OUT REASONS FOR URGING AQUEDUCT CONSTRUCTION

"By constructing the Colorado river aqueduct, Southern California will have taken out a huge insurance policy at a small premium."

Such was the statement made yesterday by Thaddeus Merriman, chief engineer of the New York City board of water supply and a member of the Metropolitan Water District's engineering board of review, in an interview shortly after his arrival in Los Angeles, to confer with the District's chief engineer, Frank E. Weymouth, on problems relative to precise location of San Jacinto tunnel on the aqueduct route.

"The average man will experience no substantial increase in taxes as a result of aqueduct construction," he continued. "After construction is started, four years will pass before the cost is as much as three and a half million dollars for the whole Metropolitan Water District."

"Total interest which must be paid over the six year construction period will amount to about $21,000,000 which is less than four-tenths of one cent per person per day. Three quarters of this total, moreover, will not be due before 1936 or 1937."

Gives Reasons

Merriman gave four reasons why aqueduct construction should be started at once:

(1) The $20,000,000 bond issue is not large for the district.

(2) The bonds will be issued only as needed, so that interest expense to the taxpayers will be materially lessened.

(3) By the time the full investment must be made, the depression will be passed.

(4) Southern California needs the aqueduct badly and at once.

"You people out here are going to have a difficult time getting through the period of construction of the aqueduct without an actual water shortage even if you start work at once," he declared.

"If Southern California does not vote those bonds on September 29, a shortage of water is inevitable, and such a shortage would be followed by a great depreciation in property values—it would be a poor advertisement to broadcast to the world."

"Los Angeles," Merriman continued, "is built upon a piece of ground much like that upon which the city of Athens is located. Life in the ancient Grecian capital practically vanished many years ago when Turkish hordes cut off the city's water supply," he explained. "In recent times that supply has been resumed and life has gone back to its normal course."

Shortage Means Depreciation

"That is illustrative," he said, "of the importance of water in a country like California. Paying the cost of water is the price you must pay for living in a semi-arid region, just as fuel costs are the price we New Yorkers must pay for our existence."

"With the money spent in New York for coal and fuel during the winter months we could build sixteen Colorado river aqueducts. On top of that the City of New York during some years pays as much as one or two million dollars to keep its streets cleared of snow."

"Los Angeles is now the New York of the Pacific coast, but it cannot hope to maintain that place long unless the Colorado river aqueduct is built at the earliest possible moment. People won't come to or stay in a place where water shortages have depreciated property values and made living conditions unpleasant."

FAMOUS WOMEN FLIERS TO BE HERE SUNDAY

Whether woman pilots can surpass men fliers in daring, ability and skill in handling fast airplanes will be demonstrated at Eddie Martin's airport early Sunday afternoon.

Seventeen women fliers will land their planes here—contestants in the first California women's air race, and several of the leading women fliers of the country are entered as pilots, advance information reveals.

Among those who have signified intentions of competing are: Mildred Morgan, Beverly Hills; Bobbie Trout, Los Angeles; Clemmie Granger, Santa Monica; Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach; Florence Lowe Barnes, Los Angeles, and acceptances are momentarily expected from Doble Stanford, Houston; Jean La Rene, Dallas; Ruth Steward, St. Louis; Maude I. Talta, Springfield, and Margery Doig, Danbury, Conn.

Hoot Gibson, widely known moving picture actor and one of the leading fliers of the state is expected to lead the racers into the airport here. He has been named as pace maker, with "Pete" Rhenhart, the flier who brought the world's endurance flight record to California, named as an alternate.

Generous lap prizes have been posted for the contestants, it is reported. Following a stop here, the women fliers will wing their way to the next control point, at the East Los Angeles airport. From Paul and the proposed expansion

FIELD TRIP IS SCHEDULED FOR BEAN GROWERS

Orange county bean growers are invited to attend a field tour in the San Fernando Valley on Friday afternoon, August 14, starting at 1:30 p. m., at the Marian Milling Company warehouse in Reseda, it was announced today by E. E. Eastman, assistant farm advisor.

This tour will be held under the auspices of the agricultural extension service, to visit bean fields in various parts of the valley and to check on the performance of the different varieties which are now being grown. A number of fields of various kinds of beans including the Hopi Lima, Wilbur, Clevea, Baby Lima and Red Kidneys will be visited and will be compared in performance one with the other.

The tour will afford an opportunity to check on the relative resistance of these varieties to nematode attack and to fusarium wilt disease troubles. Eastman said, it will also show how the various varieties react to hot summer weather with particular reference to the setting of pods.

Irrigation methods which are in use vary to quite an extent and will be discussed briefly, particularly with reference to the water requirements of the different varieties.

will open routes to the Atlantic seaboard.

Union Pacific motor coaches are now operated between Anaheim and East Los Angeles, and Hicks said it was possible the service would be extended to Santa Ana, if sufficient demand developed.

UNION PACIFIC NOW OPERATING BUSESSES

Further expansion of the Interstate Transit lines and Union Pacific stages, motor subsidiary of the Union Pacific railroad, is now under way, according to announcement made by Robert E. Hicks, traveling passenger agent of the Interstate Transit lines and Union Pacific stages who visited here yesterday.

This mammoth motor bus system, in the past two years has developed into the nation's largest network of transcontinental highway transport organization under unified ownership, according to the visiting agent. Established in August, 1929, by the railroads to provide high grade and comfortable public motor coach service at low cost, the system now incorporates the entire area west of Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis and St. Paul and the proposed expansion

Forest Home Attracts Many Vacationers From This City

The many Santa Anans who are spending their vacations at Forest Home find that the near-by mountain resort offers much in the way of entertainment, and probably the weekly card parties and entertainments at the hotel are as popular as any other diversions.

In one of the evening's card contests, Mrs. Russell Wilson of this city was fortunate in winning the first prize. Groups of the vacationers as well have planned various informal events to add to the pleasures of the summer.

For the past week Mr. and Mrs. Rolfe Hays and daughter, Elizabeth, have had as guests, Col. Archer and daughter, Mary, and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Nalle and family. Miss Elizabeth Smith has had as guests in the mountain cabin of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Smith, Miss Alice Boyd and Miss Janet Forbes.

Miss Marjorie Knox is spending the summer months at Forest Home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Knox, and she had as a recent guest, Miss Gertrude Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Chapman and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hill, are vacationing at Forest Home as are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Leamer. Mr. Leamer is convalescing following a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowland and family and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Newcom and family have exchanged cottages, and the Rowlands are at the beach while the Newcoms are at the Rowland cottage at Forest Home.

Others vacationing there are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ewings, Mrs. Mary A. Claycomb and daughter, Susan, E. L. Bryant, Mrs. J. R. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Clark and family, Mrs. Vella Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. George Newcom and family.

At Torrey's camp this past week were Mr. Tomkins and guests, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. DeWitt, and Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Hukill, Fullerton.

The beach provided a refreshing setting for the bridge games which followed. When scores were checked those holding high honors were permitted to choose their awards from the large assortment of "white elephant" gifts. However, each of the players received a desirable package.

Those present were Mesdames C. H. Ryan, John H. Shaw, George Shippe, Walter Wright, W. B. McConnell, R. A. Evans, C. N. Mooser, C. E. Moore, P. N. Chapin, Hugo Henry, Nell Pagenkopp, Elsie Bohling, and the Mesdames Henrietta Bohling and Thelma Wright.

SUCCESSFUL GARDEN PARTY GIVEN AT COUNTRY CLUB

Mid-summer hospitality as extended yesterday afternoon at the Santa Ana Country club, where wives of the directors of the club were hostesses at a charming garden party, has contributed a new note in the social activities of the year. All details of the event were so arranged as to make it successful from every viewpoint.

Never before has such an affair been held at the club during this season of the year. As returns are to be used in re-decorating the interior of the clubhouse, the success of the venture proved especially gratifying not only to the directors and their wives, but to all club members as well. Under the leadership of Mrs. A. G. Flagg, wife of the president of the Santa Ana Country club, plans for the party were carried out.

Guests were greeted in the clubrooms, which were ablaze with zinnias and dahlias in vivid tones. They were from the gardens of Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, Mrs. Z. E. West, Mrs. H. T. Dunning, this city, and Mrs. Jack Porter, of Orange, as well as those of other members.

Going by way of the solarium to the rolling slope to the rear of the clubhouse, guests found tables for clubs grouped beneath a grove of beech umbrellas. Mrs. Dean Collier and Mrs. Killey Huber were in charge of table reservations.

Playing was begun at an early hour, with players in both auction and contract bridge pivoting and progressing as well. The breeze sweeping across the mesa from the sea provided a refreshing accompaniment to the day's diversion, with 114 tables in play.

As the afternoon drew to a close scores were checked, and Mrs. D. S. Moxley, Mrs. O. H. Freeman, Mrs. Goedseder and Mrs. Roy Kidder were awarded prizes for scoring first, second, third and fourth high at auction bridge.

Special prizes included a handsome blanket, won by Mrs. Charles Chamberlain; a basket of flowers, by Mrs. O. H. Umberham; a basket of flowers, Mrs. Roy Langley; a box of candy, Mrs. George Harper; a box of candy, Mrs. Carl Mock; an angel-food cake, Mrs. Ira Chandler; Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Judson Sutherland completed for the prize which the former won.

The tea hour followed with the assistant-hostesses seated behind silver urns at one long table covered with lovely Italian lace. Delicious home-made cakes were served with tea.

Those pouring tea included Mrs. Walter Vandermast, Mrs. J. Frank Burke, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner, Mrs. Paul Bailey, Mrs. A. B. Rousseau, Mrs. Irwin F. Landis, Mrs. James E. Liebig, Mrs. George S. Smith, Mrs. Everett T. Matzer, Mrs. George Briggs, Mrs. D. K. Hammond, Mrs. Arthur Lyons, Mrs. R. O. Winkler and Mrs. Will A. Flood, this city.

Mrs. Vincent Rossett and Mrs. W. S. Wallace, Orange; Mrs. Homer G. Ames, Anaheim; Mrs. Lew Wallace, Balboa, Mrs. Louis Moulton, El Toro, Mrs. J. K. McDonald and Mrs. Samuel R. Bowen, Huntington Beach, Mrs. A. J. Crutcher, shank and Mrs. J. E. Paul, Tustin.

The hostess group included Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Mrs. Dean Collier, Mrs. Carl Mock, Mrs. Byron V. Curry, Mrs. D. W. Young, Mrs. Rex Kennedy, Mrs. W. K. Hillyard, Mrs. A. L. Domann, Mrs. Lawrence Bemis, Mrs. James B. Tucker and Mrs. R. J. McMullen. Committees were composed of this group.

Mrs. Evans Re-elected To Serve As Leader Of W. C. T. U.

Expressing their appreciation to Mrs. Amy Evans for the capable manner in which she has served them as president during the past four years, members of the Santa Ana W. C. T. U. yesterday re-elected her to their leadership for the coming year. Election of officers took place at the luncheon meeting held in Birch park.

Those chosen to serve with Mrs. Evans were Mrs. Margaret McClelland, first vice president; Mrs. Mina Tidball, second vice president; Mrs. Mary Wager, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ruth Edwards, recording secretary; Mrs. Edith Ward Moore, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Edna Leonard, treasurer, and Mrs. Anna Scott, assistant treasurer.

Installation of the new officers will take place at the next meeting, Tuesday, September 8, in the First Presbyterian church. At this time officers and directors will give their annual reports.

Yesterday's session followed the picnic luncheon, and was called to order by the president, Mrs. Evans. Mrs. Fannie Lash opened the meeting with devotional, after which business of the day was discussed. Mrs. Evans reminded members of the W. C. T. U. broadcasting hour over KREG on Tuesdays between 9:30 and 10 a. m. This is in charge of the Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. All W. C. T. U. unions in the county are invited to participate in the programs, and should communicate with the Rev. Mr. Harding should they wish to take part. Mrs. Evans said.

Miss Alice Davidson was the speaker of the day, and she gave a profitable talk on her work among the Mexican people.

Mrs. Evans announced that the county W. C. T. U. convention will be held in the First Presbyterian church of this city Thursday and Friday, September 10 and 11. She appointed Mrs. Edith Ward Moore, Mrs. Nora Davies and Mrs. Edna Leonard as members of the committee in charge of serving meals, and Mrs. Eldora Demarest and Mrs. Myrtle Belcher as members of the decorating committee.

A card holding ten times was prepared as a contribution for a fund to be used in campaign purposes. As there are 10,000 unions in the nation, all donating a similar amount, there will be quite a sum for the next W. C. T. U. campaign.

The union voted to postpone the annual meeting in the park, and to have a picnic at some other time, to be announced later. Also, a vote was cast thanking the retiring secretary and her assistant, Mrs. Anna Miller and Mrs. Anna Frambes, for their share in the success of the year just passed.

Take Care at such times
Beware the doubtful hygiene of nameless substitutes for Kotex

SANITARY protection is closely related to your health. You need absolute assurance of cleanliness, thorough and through. This assurance you have with Kotex.

But how about the dozens of nameless substitutes? How are they made? Where? By whom? How do you know they're fit for this intimate personal use?

Take no chances! Refuse questionable substitutes, of whose makers you know nothing. You know Kotex is safe. It's the world's standard in sanitary protection. Pure, immaculate, safe. Ten million pads were bought by hospitals last year. Insist on Kotex. It is soft and comfortable. It is treated to deodorize. Shaped to fit. Disposable. The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Spiced or Pickled Figs
Another fine recipe for spiced or pickled figs has come in in response to my request for fig recipes. This is Miss Martha's way of doing figs.

7 pounds figs, not too ripe
4 pounds sugar (8 cups)
1 pint vinegar
1-2 ounce ginger root
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1-2 teaspoon ground mace

Heat sugar and vinegar and pour in spice, tied in a cheese cloth bag. When the syrup is well scalded put in the figs and bring to the boiling point. Take out the spice bag, turn figs and syrup into a big jar, and stand in cool place over night.

The following day drain off the syrup, bring to a boil, pour over the figs. Repeat this draining-and-boiling process for four days; the last time boil the liquid down to a syrup sufficient to cover the fruit. Slip the pickled figs into the hot syrup, scald well, pack into hot jars and seal.

Although whole spices are not specified, I believe that whole cloves and pickling allspice are intended. The ginger root is a dry tan-looking root. Strip it to bits with a sharp knife so that the flavor will be more readily absorbed by the figs.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Watermelon Sweep Pickle
Rind from medium-sized melon
3 cups brown sugar
2 cups white sugar
3 cups cider vinegar
1-4 pound seeded raisins
1 lemon, sliced thin
1 small stick of cinnamon

Today, I am giving the quick and easy way to make this almost-best of all pickles. For lack of space the other recipe will have to go over until tomorrow.

Use a melon with a rather thick rind. Cut the rind in convenient strips, peel off the green rind and cut away every vestige of red on the inner side—watermelon pickles are apt to spoil when the ripe pulp part is not all trimmed away. Cut the strips into small pieces and soak overnight in a mild salt solution. In the morning, rinse, and cook in clear water until the rind is easily pierced with a fork.

While the rind is cooking you can make the syrup: combine the two sugars with the vinegar, bring to a quick boil, add the little stick of cinnamon, broken in large pieces, the seeded raisins, and the lemon sliced very thin. Drop the cooked watermelon rind into this syrup, simmer for a few minutes, pour into hot jars and seal.

What do you do with left-over pickling syrups, like that of today's recipe? Strained and thickened with cornstarch it makes a perfect sauce for a steamed pork-pig; use it to baste roast pork (not too much of it); use it in making mayonnaise or cooked salad dressings.

While you are in an enthusiastic mood for canning, do sit down and send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope with a request for a free copy of the current leaflet, "Canned Chicken." Clear directions for canning in the average kitchen and with average equipment will be given.

Thursday, Butter-milk Nut Bread will be the recipe.
ANN MEREDITH.

Open Air Dance Pavilion Ready

One of the largest open air dance pavilions in Southern California will be opened to the public in Orange county this evening. It was learned today. The new pavilion is located between Santa Ana and Anaheim on the state highway next to the Orange County Golf course.

The pavilion has one of the largest floors in Southern California and is situated in a grove of trees, which with the colored lights will make it one of the county's beauty spots.

Jack Hamilton, manager of the dance, announced that the dance will operate with a popular price schedule and that Charlie Josly's Famous Dance Band will open the place tonight. A prize will be offered the first week for a suitable name.

No automobiles are permitted on the island of Bermuda, but bicycles may be landed or engaged by the vacationists for island exploration.

NEW WEST COAST FILM

Placid intervals in a "gentleman's" life. Owen Moore and Myrna Loy in a scene from "Hush Money," which opens at the Fox West Coast theater today. The star is Joan Bennett.

ROGERS SCORES AGAIN IN NEW FILM AT B'WAY

"Me, an actor? They're kiddin' you," once remarked Will Rogers. "If they can find a role that's sorta like me and then let me be natural, I'm all right, otherwise I'm punk."

And this is the best reason to be found for the appeal and delightfulness of his new Fox production, "Young As You Feel," which opened yesterday at the Fox Broadway theater. Rogers is Rogers, and as such he has no equal on the screen today. His character of Lemul Morehouse fits the humorist perfectly. It affords him his best opportunity to be just what he is, a plain everyday, American father and citizen.

Admirers of Rogers will be thoroughly delighted with his donning of "dressed" clothes in this hilarious comedy drama, which was adapted from George Ade's well known stage play "Father and The Boys." Rogers appears all dressed up in stiff collars, boiled shirts, topper and cane. And after one recovers from the original shock, the effect is quite pleasing since Rogers' athletic figure sets off admirably the last Bond Street modes.

In the chief feminine role, Piffi Dorsay repeats her initial success with Rogers in their first talking picture, "They Had to See Paris." Her striking allure and French vivacity accounts for much mirth and genuine entertainment.

Things Happen Fast In "Transatlantic"

Anything can happen on a big ocean liner bound to Europe and most everything does in "Transatlantic," Fox's record breaking film which will be shown soon at the Fox Broadway theater.

The picture, starring Edmund Lowe, Grete Nison and Myrna Loy, is one of the biggest pictures of the year, one that outplayed a number of the so-called best shows in New York recently.

The story is the tale of fast life with a fast set on a European vessel and the activities of a gentleman crook who finds that police are not his only danger—but women as well.

Another big picture opens today at the Fox West Coast theater. It is "Hush Money," starring Joan Bennett, in what critics declare is the best work of her career.

"Hush Money" is the story of a girl who falls in love with a confidence man. How he uses her and how she does everything for him because her love is clearly revealed, until she and he both are sent to prison.

Being a woman and not the chief criminal in the story, she gets out of prison first and attempts to lead a straight life. Through sheer nerve and ambition she soon wins her way to the top, forgetting her old life and anxious to plunge into a newer and finer life. Then come whispers from the past. Her old lover returns after she is married and while she is raising her family. She is torn between duty and a desire to keep her secret from her husband. How she works out this problem makes one of the most interesting screen subjects of the year.

The man in the story is Hardie Albright. The confidence man is played by Owen Moore. All three characters are particularly good and "Hush Money" should be carded here as another of the best pictures of the "Fox Month of Stars."

New Type Picture With Great Cast Opens at State

Wary of sex and gangster pictures, the public has been clamoring for something different in the way of screen entertainment for some time past. In "Salvation Nell," adapted from the famous play by E. B. Sheldon, in which Mrs. Fluke attained the greatest success of her career, Tiffany believes that it has answered this request. The film will be seen at Walker's State tonight and Thursday.

Produced under the personal direction of James Cruze and featuring Ralph Graves and Helen Chandler, "Salvation Nell" is the story of a good woman faced with poverty and disgrace because of her love for a man.

Apart from the fact that the picture is one of the most powerful human dramas ever produced on the screen, it teems with action and suspense from start to finish. The climax is one of the most inspiring ever seen.

SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 12.—Mrs. Grace McWhorter, employed in the Bank of America at San Clemente, is on her annual two week's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Irish and J. M. Lackey spent the past week end at Big Bear. Lackey and Irish are with the state engineering force which now has its headquarters in San Clemente.

M. J. "Bud" Holloway, son of E. L. Holloway, councilman and gas station owner here, has secured a lease on a station in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Archer, of Huntington Park, are spending their vacation in San Clemente. Archer, well known golfer, is playing in the championship flight in the annual city tournament here.

CANCEL AIR MAIL

OTTAWA.—All trans-continental air mail flights in Canada will be cancelled within the next few months because of heavy deficits in the Canadian postal operations, it is reported. Prime Minister Bennett issued the order after a survey of the postal department showed a deficit for the past fiscal year of about $6,000,000. Two lines, that between Montreal and Albany, N. Y., and the Rimouski-Montreal line, will be continued.

OFFER PRIZES FOR HUCKLEBERRY FINNS

Prizes for the members of the Santa Ana Mickey Mouse club, which meets every Saturday at the Fox West Coast theater who appear this week, dressed in the best "Huckleberry Finn" costumes, was announced today by W. E. Smith, manager of the Fox West Coast theater.

The idea of the costumes is to herald the coming of the famous film, "Huckleberry Finn" at the Fox Broadway theater on Sunday. A number of prizes have been ordered by the theater and those in the audience who have dressed more like old "Huck" than the others will be given the prizes.

The picture to be shown at the Mickey Mouse meeting this Saturday is "Fighting Caravans," a typical red blooded Indian fighting picture that every child in Santa Ana will enjoy.

The largest drydock in the world is located at Boston, which is 400 miles nearer to principal European ports than New York or Philadelphia.

The native smiled. "Well, bless our soul," said he. "I'll get a real long pole and shortly bring bananas down. I will not have to climb. To me that will be time well spent, so I won't charge a single cent. I'll have some of the finest fruit down here in record time."

"We're in pretty good time," the pole and then the Tintles all were thrilled again to watch him reach away up high

 "We'll soon have some lunch.
 The man has a great big bunch

 the bunch crunched, "Wheel!"
 The fine bananas hit the ground

Avocado Growers

Convene Aug. 15 In

San Diego County

Growers from almost every section of Southern California will be in attendance at the California

Avocado association meeting August 15, starting at 11 a. m., at the "Little Rancho" of George P. Fra-

Smith in Vista, northern San Diego county.

An interesting program on growing and marketing avocados will be lead by prominent growers and farm advisors. This is the first time that Vista has been host to the association, the growers' educational group of the avocado industry. The Smith growers, located a mile from Vista toward Escondido on the inland highway, is one of the best in the district.

Many Orange county growers are planning to attend, while several from here will be among those leading the program. E. C. Dutton, of Anaheim, is secretary of the association. T. G. Sutherland,

Whittier, and F. D. Halm, La Ha-

INTERESTING WATER LITIGATION

With the greatest need of Orange County, its water program, the county has presented to it the spectacle of a lawsuit that not only makes for a division of forces, but, when the facts are known, shows a complete insincerity of purpose on the side of the plaintiff.

Under the guise of protecting our water basin the Anaheim Union Water company, together with such cities as it was able to induce to join it, brought action against Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, and the Irvine company for pumping water from a point south of Santa Ana.

There are some interesting sidelights on this matter. One of them is that the Anaheim Union Water company, in the person of its representative in the Upper Prado basin, is being sued by the city of Corona for doing exactly the same thing which the Anaheim Union Water company charges Laguna Beach, et al with doing. It places the Anaheim Union Water company in the perfectly absurd position of trying to knock out Laguna Beach and Newport Beach from their supply of water on the one hand, and grab Corona's supply with the other.

Through some method the attorney who represents the Anaheim Union Water company's end of the case in the Corona fight, has become the attorney for the other end of the fight in the case involving Laguna Beach. In other words, in the attack that Corona is making upon the Anaheim Union Water company this attorney represents the latter, but in the case of the Anaheim Union Water company against Laguna Beach, this man jumps over and represents Laguna Beach. And what has been his advice to Laguna Beach? "Settle." With whom? "Why with the attorney for the Anaheim Union Water Company." But what has Laguna Beach got to settle and why should she settle with the Anaheim Union Water Company? There is little question in law but that Laguna Beach has established her right to take water, but of course with an attorney who is at the same time, and in the same kind of a case, attorney for those who have brought the action against Laguna Beach, things are different again.

Another feature of the same question is that any settlement or agreement in the case may bind Laguna Beach, but it does not bind any interests that would have any legal rights as against Laguna Beach. This may not be known to the Laguna Beach people—but if the litigants which the attorney for the Anaheim Union Water Company has gathered together to make lawsuits and trouble, have any rights in the matter as against Laguna Beach, Santa Ana has the same rights and there would be nothing to interfere with Santa Ana starting a case tomorrow on the same basis, providing there is any merit in the case. In fact, if there were to be court findings and rulings as touching the situation, Santa Ana, in the protection of its interests or rights, should be made a party. But this does not seem to be the case. However, it is understood that Laguna Beach is advised by her attorney to voluntarily agree to a limitation on the amount of water that she will take, and she has agreed to do it. In this, Laguna Beach places limitations upon her own future and without any legal compulsion to do so because she has the right to the water in any case. Her agreement to limit herself, if she hasn't such rights, would not prevail against Santa Ana and Orange in beginning a suit after she had agreed to these limitations.

We are pointing these facts out because they should be known to the people of Santa Ana and of Laguna Beach. Frankly, we believe that the Coast should be aided in its development in every way possible and not hampered and restricted either by litigation or otherwise.

Another singular feature of the same situation is the fact that the Anaheim Union Water Company and the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company have unquestionably lowered the levels by pumping at their point near Olive, so that the water undoubtedly has had a backflow at that point. On this account, the dangers to Anaheim, Orange, Santa Ana and Fullerton are infinitely greater from this direction than from any water that is taken from several miles south of Santa Ana. The drawings submitted by the engineers employed by the county clearly demonstrate this, and the fact that figures of water levels from these pumpings are not now obtainable for the general public. Incidentally arbitrary lines have been laid down by this group in their litigation as to what constitutes the area of this watershed.

The plain situation in Orange County is this. That while the levels of water in the Santa Ana river basin are being depleted by these water companies to a very serious extent, they turn around and, we believe, in part to hide the very fact that they are so doing, point an excitable finger at a point that is not nearly so serious in order to take public attention away from what they themselves are doing. But the rest of the public is unorganized.

These facts should be brought out. It may be entirely possible that while this lawsuit seems to be a regrettable occurrence, it will be the very means of bringing out before the court and the people of the county the terribly unfair drain, and possibly illegal drain, on the water in the northern section of the county, which in turn is drawing the very water that may be needed for domestic use away from our city and the southern section of the county in the interests of these private water companies. Frankly, we are glad that the case is on so that the searchlight of truth may be thrown on the situation. Whatever the facts are they should become known to the people of the county so that they may act in harmony therewith for their greatest protection.

THE FATE OF THE NEW RICH

An office boy employed in a Wall Street brokerage house recently won $150,000 in a sweepstake. He lay awake all night excitedly thinking what he would do with his new fortune. Dozens of things were turned over in his mind. Of course, he was going to have a new car. Perhaps he was going to buy a Frigidaire for his mother. His best girl was to be in on a very good time. And those three dollar dinners which he had coveted for many years, but which his $25 a week made prohibitive, were not going to be infrequent.

With such thoughts he rose up in the morning after a sleepless night. But a hundred others had read in the paper that the office boy had won the little fortune, and they were all on hand bright and early to put new ideas into his head. He found himself the center of a crowd which reminded him of the morning rush in the subway. Instead of the one letter from the postman, his mail was almost mountainous. Everybody had something to sell him, and which he surely ought to have. One offered to sell him Hell Gate Bridge for $20,000. Another offered a quarter interest in the Holland Tunnel. Still another offered to sell him a state reservoir. An oil gusher, a deep sea expedition to salvage coal, a dude ranch, Long Island mansions, were among the things these solicitors wanted to sell him. New inventions were proposed to him which would make him rich beyond the dreams of a Rockefeller.

The boy was pretty wise; but there were some things he could not escape. He immediately became the victim of a breach of promise suit. Charity cases piled up on him. Finally, he escaped to Bermuda; but his mail of 500 letters a day followed him. These are some of the penalties of having money, and woe to the gullible and the unwary.

"UNEASY LIES THE HEAD"

While ex-King Alfonso of Spain is enjoying private life in Paris and in London, King Victor Emmanuel of Italy is dodging bombs in Genoa. While Mr. Hoover is wrestling with problems, guarded by secret service men, amid the terrific heat of Washington, Mr. Coolidge is sitting on the front porch of his ancestral farm house among the Vermont hills, smoking his stogie, and enjoying the curiosity gazers who come to look at him from across the road.

Yet Alfonso would like to be back in his palace in Madrid, and they say that Mr. Coolidge is casting covetous eyes toward the White House. King Victor Emmanuel would be loth to give up his crown, even though Mussolini has stripped him of all authority; and Mr. Hoover will be very much disappointed if he does not get a second term.

How we all love to serve the dear public. Men spend fortunes to get a public office, and when they have served their term they are soon forgotten. Who knows the name of the man who was vice president in Lincoln's first term? Who can recall any of the recent Speakers of the House of Representatives in Washington? How many can recall the last five governors of the State? Shall we therefore lie down and do nothing? Are contributions to the world to be measured by the name one leaves upon history's page? Who knows the man who invented the first implement, or discovered the value of fire to cook his food? Let us therefore be content with our lot, provided we have used our powers and gifts to the limit.

Grasshoppers Added to Troubles of Farmers

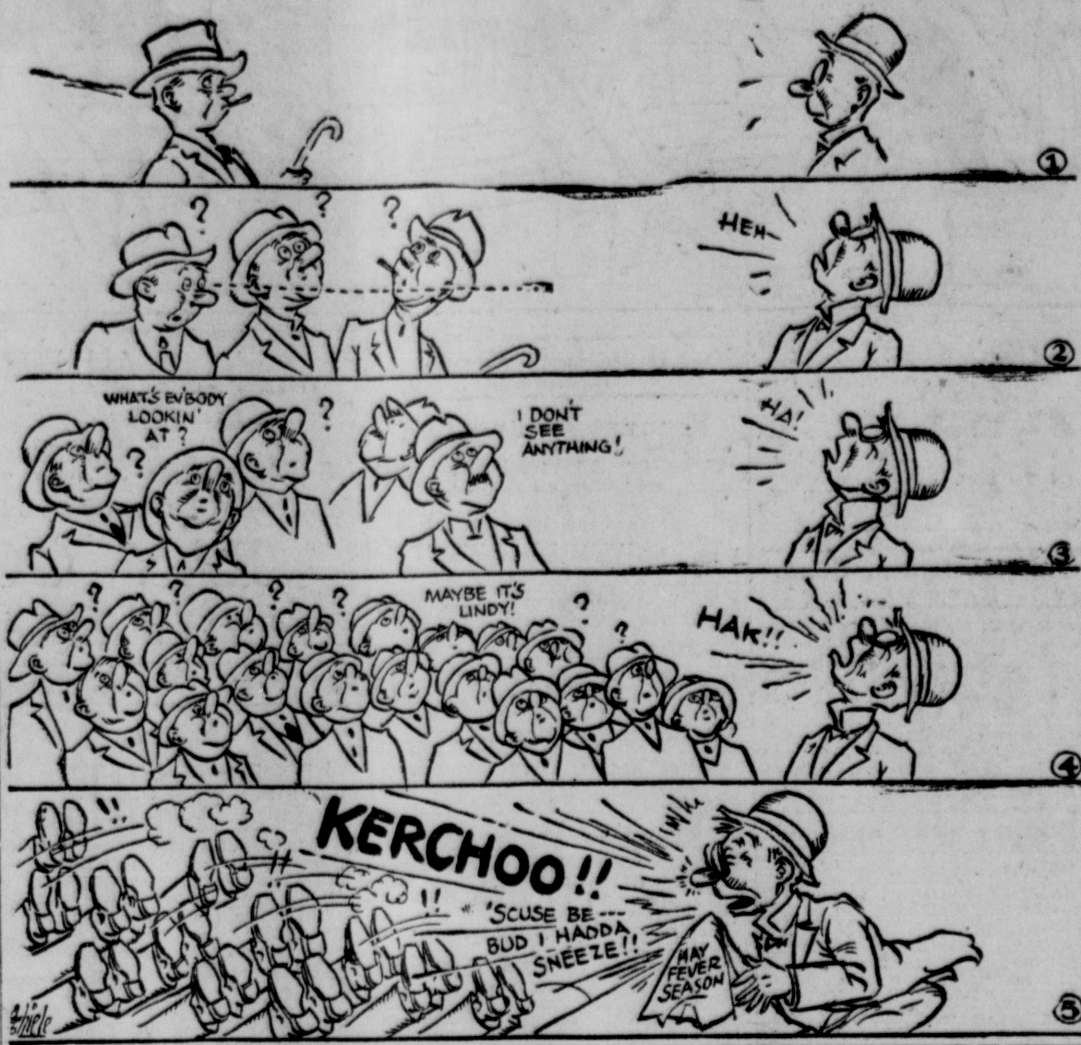

—The San Bernardino Sun—

The casual hopper, frolicking among the grasses, is usually taken in song and story as a humorous person. But in middle-Western fields and orchards he is no joke but rather a deadly plague. In a day a green field may be eaten alive, leaving only brown dried stalks of what were grains and grasses, bare trees which held beautifully ripening fruit. In a South Dakota field of 1600 acres entomologists found not enough remnants left to feed one animal. "Prayers and poison" have been resorted to in that state. Farmers have knelt where their grandfathers knelt 60 years ago for the same relief.

But ah, in northern Nebraska there is another story. There the farmers have heard that the Wisconsin fish hatcheries are buying grasshoppers. Hundreds of pounds of hoppers are being shipped to feed the fishes.

If there were only some vacuum cleaner arrangement which could suck them off the fruit and grains, and if perhaps they could be used, by the ton, for fertilizer, there might be a greater hope. It's pretty discouraging, after mastering all the other difficulties of hard time, to get a plague of Egypt sweep over everything and destroy it before one's eyes.

TO A MOSQUITO

The tiger, when he seeks his prey,
Proceeds with stealth upon his way.

The snake, without the slightest sound,
Moves like a shadow on the ground.

The fox employs the greatest care
In hunting rabbits to their lair
So that they will not flee in fear
On learning that a foe is near.

But you come singing through the gloom;
One hears you clear across the room.
You advertise your appetite
And whereabouts before you bite.

The predatory sounds you make
The soundest sleeper will awake.

You do not seem to care a rap
Lest an indignant, vicious slap
Will lay you lifeless on the floor
And you will sing and bite no more.

And yet, though bears and tigers die
By man's stern hand, you multiply.

And when their race is found no more
You still our houses will explore

In quest of human forms to chew;
Moreover, you will find them, too.

Despite your folly, little skeet,
You've got far brighter creatures beat.

The Violence of Inaction

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Our present national malady is general under-employment. The cause is general overproduction. The remedy is general distribution. Everybody admits that.

If we could hand out, to our own people, the evergrowing output, as fast as they produce it, general overproduction would be impossible.

Theoretically, Communism can do precisely that. It can put every man to work, and promptly distribute everything he produces. All the Dictator has to do is to hand out one unit of purchasing power for every new unit of wealth. Thus, under Communism, collective action is possible.

But do you want Communism? Do you want a Dictator? To which of the William Z. Fosters would you like to grant the power of a Stalin?

To which Committee of Congress would you like to turn over the control of production?

Which board of Aldermen would you like to have decide for you what books to read, what clothes you are to wear, what kind of house you are to live in?

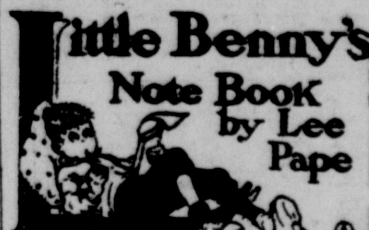

The problem of distribution will never be solved in a satisfactory way by Communism. But it WILL be solved. And it must be solved partly by collective action.

In the United States, there is only one agency through which all the people can act collectively. There is one agency, and only one, which represents all the people. That agency is the Federal Government.

It has all the power it needs. It has unlimited command over our national resources. It can put out idle money and our idle men to work, whenever it decides to do so. By careful planning, it can pull the country half way out of this depression before snow flies again.

We need Federal action now. It is better for responsible authority to attack the problem, than to have the problem attacked in the violence of irresponsible action.

We are now suffering from the violence of inaction.

Me and Sam Cross and Skinny Martin and Glasses Magee was standing around the lam post, and me and Sam Cross started to have a fierce argument about cats and owls and which can see the farthest in the dark. Sam saying owls and me saying cats end being a exter fierce argument on account of neither of us having any proofs, Sam saying, Well all I can say is, anybody that says a cat can see farther than a owl at nite must have the brains of a cat for being so ignorant.

O boy, did you hear that, Sam? Glasses Magee sed. Go ahead and fite him, you can beat him any day of the week.

Sure I can, Sam sed, and Skinny sed, Good nite did you hear that, Benny? Go ahead and crack him a shot, he sed, and Glasses sed, Paste him one, Sam, go ahead, Im sticking up for you.

And me and Sam started to make fists and faces at each other and just then pop stuck his hed out of the frunt window, saying, Just a moment, gentlemen. I suggest that young Martin and young Magee, being the most intrusted parties, should fite each other first.

G, thats a good idee, I sed, and Sam sed, Sure, leave them fite ferst if their so anxious. Wich Skinny and Glasses wouldnt on account of saying they didnt have anything to fite about and didnt feel like fighting anyways, and pop gave me money to treat them all to a ice cream cone, making everybody feel frendly to everybody elts, especially to pop.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE IRREPRESSIBLE CONFLICT

There is going on today throughout the western world a high-tensioned conflict of which the instability that marks European politics and the depression that harasses the United States are but by-products.

This high-tensioned conflict is going on between two sets of forces that have been described by H. G. Wells in the following words:

1. Very powerful social and political traditions.

2. A spreading tide of new knowledge and an unprecedented onrush of new inventions that are entirely incompatible with these social and political traditions that still dominate men's minds.

Europe will not achieve permanent stability and the United States will not achieve permanent prosperity save as we rid ourselves of our obsolete traditions and base our social and economic policies upon our new knowledge and our new inventions.

Above all else our need is for a new social statesmanship that will make comprehensive and consistent use of the creative knowledge and productive instruments that have been thrown up out of modern research and modern experience.

The raw materials of redemptive policy are hidden away in the mass of detailed results that have been piled up by the spadework of modern research.

Biological research, for instance, has thrown certain ideas which represent biology's net contributions to the science of the management of the human future of society. Psychology has, in like manner, made its contribution to an improved direction of affairs. So has economics. So has political science. So have all the sciences and philosophy springing from the joins of research. So have the innumerable experiments, critical intelligence has here and there persecuted in the practical processes of politics, of industry, and of the professions.

When we have searched out these seminal ideas, produced by intensive research and proved in isolated experiences, we shall have before us a dependable inventory of the raw materials for political, social and economic renewal of our national life, and of the life of the world.

As I have been emphasizing all week, we must not expect miracle men to arise and play messiah to our plight.

The building materials for a sound and stable civilization are all at hand.

We must page intelligence, the architect!

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SWIMMING

If I could have but one excursion, one sport to offer the children I would choose swimming. Every child who attends school or camp, from the oldest to the youngest, boys and girls, can learn to swim. There is no greater delight than that which a good swim gets seeping through every muscle and every hidden corner of your body.

There is the beautiful setting. Water is always lovely. Even when it is closed in a tiled pool it is beautiful, but when it moves on the face of the earth there nothing lovelier in the garden of this world. The pool at the foot of the old elm tree, golden brown against the gravel bed, the sky patterned by the great lacy boughs the borders of moss and wildflower, the lit of the bird nearby—what more gracious invitation to wash and be clean could be offered the dust stained weary body?

The brook slipping through the meadow widens into a pool fringed with willows. It always seemed to me that that was an invitation direct from the sky to all small boys. It says as distinctly as the voice in the willows can say it, "Hank your clothes on this willow limb and dive into the water."

The larger lakes and the ocean say "swim." The first shock of the cool water against the body sends a thrill up and down one's spine and an exhilarating response sets the blood tingling. There comes a feeling of joyous mastery as the arms cleave the water and the body rides through the waves. A feeling of deep sweet satisfaction fills one's mind. I have always thought it was born of the feeling that cleanliness was achieved at last. It is this sense of power and this feeling of cleanliness that makes swimming such a satisfying sport.

Its action is very graceful. There is no prettier picture than the one of a young boy or girl diving into the water and swimming back to the shore. Every movement is graceful, every pose a delight. Even the most awkward child is at ease in the water and his awkwardness is washed away in graceful ripples as he makes for shore.

All children can learn to swim. They learn to swim when they learn to walk but they must be taught. If a child fears the water he is to be allowed to get acquainted with it in his own way. Let him sit in his bathing suit and watch the water as long as he wishes to do so. If he does not move than this for months let him alone. The time is coming when he will forget all his fear and strike out into the water. Then you begin teaching him. You do not throw him into the water. You do not swim out to the deep place and leave him to swim back. You let him feel the ground under him as long as he wishes. His training must be as gradual as he indicates. He will make up time when he gains confidence.

Encourage the girls to learn to swim. It is as much fun for a girl as a boy. She will need to know how to handle herself in the water as much as the boy will need the knowledge and the ability. A girl can save another child as skillfully as a boy could do it. A girl needs healthy exercise as much as a boy does. A girl needs fun just as much as a boy does. All children ought to learn to swim, the earlier the better.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

FIXING COAL PRICES

On August 12, 1917, the United States government fixed the price of anthracite coal at $5.50 to $6.00 a ton, F. O. B. Jersey City. The price of bituminous coal was fixed at $2 a ton at the mines in Pennsylvania.

Coal prices thus fixed by the government were contested by the mine operators and a diminution of output followed, with some disorganization of the industry.

On August 23 President Wilson signed an executive order appointing Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams college, fuel administrator. This was done under authority conferred upon the president by the act of August 10, which provided for the control of the distribution of food products and fuel. Garfield's duty was to regulate retail trade in both bituminous and anthracite coal, with the authority to use drastic means to protect consumers from exploitation.

One of Garfield's most important moves was to issue an order on October 1 stopping temporarily the shipment of coal into Canada.

TRUTHFUL ENOUGH

MISTRESS: I hope you are truthful enough, Jane.
NEW MAID: I am on my own account, ma'am. I only tell lies to callers for the family.—Answers.

CLEVERLY SAID

Wife: To think that I turned down Guy for you. Why he was a clever sensible fellow.
Hubby: And he was the one who introduced us, wasn't he? I'll say he was clever.—Pathfinder.
